Victoria MLA Finds No Job Waiting
When He Returns From Legislature

Percy Wright, Victoria Social Credit MLA, tried to get his job as assistant city clerk back today, but failed.

Mr. Wright, who left his job five weeks ago to carry out his duties in the Legislature—after city council had refused his request for leave of absence—reported to city hall sharp at 8:30 a.m., the normal starting time.

He walked into the city clerk's office and announced: "Good morning, I'm back."

He then had a 15-minute private chat with City Clerk M. Frank Hunter.

When he came out, he said he had been told by Mr. Hunter he would have to see City Manager Cecil Wyatt since the matter was solely in his hands.

His meeting with Mr. Wyatt took less than two minutes.

"I saw Mr. Wyatt and told him the session had ended and that I was back. I asked him if my job was still open. He said no, and said he felt his letter covered the subject so that no further explanation was necessary," Mr. Wright revealed.

RETIRED VOLUNTARILY

This letter, written by Mr. Wyatt on October 5, set forth the city's attitude:

"It has been concluded that you have elected to follow a provincial career and in so doing have voluntarily retired from the services of the Corporation of the City of Victoria."

Mr. Wright answered this letter October 8 by repeating his application for leave of absence without pay for the duration of the session, "which I am attending by command."

Lacrosse Goalie Jack Green Found Drowned

Wide Island Hunt Ends This Morning

Jack W. Green, widely known here as goalie with the Vancouver Pileaters senior lacrosse team, was found drowned early this morning in T'Sable River, near Union Bay, south of Courtenay.

Green, 22, of Vancouver, had been the object of a widespread search since Sunday. He was reported missing Saturday after he became separated from a hunting party.

Discovery of his body was made by civilian searchers covering the area near Canadian Collieries T'Sable River mine, near the confluence of the T'Sable and Beaufort Creek. One of the searchers advanced the theory that Green might have stumbled in the dark, and fallen down a steep embankment into the river.

Green played senior lacrosse for five years.

He starred with Vancouver Burrards in 1949 when that team won the Mann Cup. He played in Mann Cup finals again in 1951 and 1952 with Vancouver Pileaters, and played with Pileaters this season.

Close to 150 district residents took part in Sunday's search. Early today the RCAF was preparing to enter the search. A ground party, equipped with walkie-talkies, got as far as Nanaimo, and a helicopter was to be pushed into service as well.

WIRE BRIEFS

BCE STRIKE VOTE STARTED; TO BE COMPLETE WEDNESDAY

A strike vote among 100 electricians employed by the B.C. Electric here is under way.

It will be completed Wednesday.

Strike action, which the men's union, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.), says will affect everything but homes and essential services, is contemplated to back up their demands for a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

It is expected that hospitals will be served, but commercial enterprises will be cut off if a strike materializes.

A majority recommendation of a conciliation board to maintain wages at the present level was rejected by the union.

Tail End May Hit City

The West Coast of Vancouver Island and the whole northern B.C. coast, braced itself today as the tag end of a North Pacific hurricane screamed downcoast from the Gulf of Alaska.

Small ships scudded for shelter but no extensive damage was reported along the coast. The weatherman said the brunt of the big blow might be expected to hit before nightfall.

The Dominion public weather office in Vancouver said the winds which pummeled their weather ship 900 miles off the coast with gusts up to 110 miles per hour were gradually slackening and probably would be only about 60 m.p.h. by the time the raging tempest smacked against the seaboard.

The weather ship was knocked around by vicious 45-foot waves but the forecasters said the waves would be "no where near that size" by the time they reached the coast. He said even the brunt would be a "tame lion" compared to the raging tiger that foamed the Pacific early this morning.

DRAMATIC LESSON

Fireboat Need Proved, Says Mayor

The fire on the Salvage King today is a dramatic lesson to Victoria on the need for a fireboat, Mayor Claude Harrison declared.

The mayor inspected the sunken ship at noon today and said: "The whole harbor front was jeopardized by this fire. The ship should have been towed to sea and out of the range of the harbor front properties as soon as the fire was spotted."

The mayor pointed out that with oil tanks just across the harbor and the docks all around the blazing ship, Victoria could have been faced with a holocaust.

The mayor indicated he will bring the fireboat question before the City Council again.

Red Feather Collections Now $116,500

A total of $116,500 has been collected to noon today by the Greater Victoria Community Chest, almost 56 per cent of the $210,686 target.

Chest officials said there is still about 80 per cent of the industrial-commercial canvass to be heard from.

Red Feather campaign chairman, Courtney Haddock, paid tribute to school teachers and civil servants for their fine response. But he indicated that some business firms are acting as if they were contributing to one agency instead of 16.

Where the head of the business hasn't given his personal interest, the drive hasn't been too successful, he added.

"It's up to the community and those who are prospering here to decide what they want," he stated, and he pointed out that some firms have contributed less than many individuals.

'AGNOSTIC CLERICS' SCORED

'God Is Totalitarian' Jesuit Tells Anglicans

LONDON (AP)—A leading Jesuit priest said Sunday the Roman Catholic Church does not have to seek converts—"they are driven to us by Communist and agnostic clerics."

Rev. Joseph Christie replied to a booklet approved by ranking Anglican prelates which accused the Catholic church of "touting for converts among the seriously ill and dying." The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, recommended the booklet, which was written by an anonymous group of Anglican clergymen.

Father Christie, preaching in the Church of Our Lady of Victories, said:

5-Hour Fight Futile

The 164-foot vessel, Salvage King, today sank in the Inner Harbor after a fire that broke out in her forecastle at 7:30 a.m.

Firemen and Island Tug and Barge crews fought vainly for almost five hours to reach the stubborn fire, which burned fiercely in bedding, stores, rubber hose, rope and salvage gear.

Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water were poured into the ship in an attempt to let firemen reach the seat of the blaze.

At 11:40 a.m. Fire Chief Frank Briers ordered everyone off the ship, and at 12:10 she slowly settled to the bottom, sunk by the water that failed to reach the stubborn flames.

At 12:20 she had settled. There was two feet of water on her main deck and she listed outward from her berth at Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros. Ltd. wharf.

At press time company officials were debating whether to cut the mooring lines that held her upright.

She was well submerged aft, and water reached to her name at the bow.

BULKHEAD FAILED?

It is believed a bulkhead dividing the crew's quarters from the after part of the ship collapsed, flooding the engine room.

All the city's major fire equipment was called to fight the blaze.

Smoke—black and stinking from burning stores—shrouded the waterfront before firemen could slow the flames.

From 9 a.m. on they fought a losing battle to reach the deep-seated flames.

"The fire itself was serious—mighty serious—for a time," said Fire Chief Frank Briers, red-eyed and hoarse from his attempts to lead firemen to the seat of the blaze.

"Our trouble was getting to it," he said.

DEEP-SEATED

The fire is understood to have broken out in the crew's quarters, two decks below the upper deck. Firemen wearing compressed-air breathing apparatus attempted to take hose to the fire, but dense smoke and terrific heat forced them off.

Finally a crewman using the ship's own welding equipment cut two huge holes through the foredeck that enabled firemen to play a stream of water into a companionway reaching to the fire itself.

NO INJURIES

Only men aboard the vessel when the alarm was turned in at 7:30 were Charles Cruikshanks, fireman; Wong Ying, cook, and Ko Wing, messboy. They escaped from the burning ship without injury.

The fire department called Island Tug and Barge Ltd. immediately, and by the time fire trucks were on the scene four tugs and a barge were approaching the Evans, Coleman wharf, where the Salvage King was berthed.

"They told us to send everything, so we did," he said.

The fireboat Island Trooper fed hose lines to the burning ship, and sprayed her upper deck with a monitor atop the pilot house.

Gets the 'Wust' of It

In a contest at the annual outing of Austrian motor-scooter owners, a driver tries to grab a snack while on the move. The event, held in Vienna, followed religious services where many scooter owners had their vehicles blessed on St. Christopher's Day.

SALVAGE KING

(Continued from Page 1) The barge used to wash down company equipment also was on hand, and washed down the decks with a cascade of water to permit firemen to work.

2,000 GALLONS A MINUTE

At one time hoses were pouring up to 2,000 gallons of water per minute into the ship.

Even reserve equipment was brought into play by the city, and practically all of the night shift stayed on the job until nearly noon.

Thousands of feet of hose were laid, and one line extended all the way from Government and Humboldt Streets.

City police established road blocks to force a detour of the area.

Fire officials originally wanted to cut a hole through the hull beside the fire, but were barred by a steel sheath inside the hull.

HUGE CROWD

Thousands of spectators crowded the Causeway and adjacent wharves. At the height of the fire Mr. Chinook docked nearby, and across the harbor were the Princess Marguerite and Princess Joan of the CPR.

Nauseous smoke from the burning stores sickened firemen, who would come to clear air, vomit, then go back to their posts.

"We can't see anything there for smoke," said Lieut. Carl Mills of the fire department.

Vital workings of the ship were not damaged by fire. Frank Inglis, donkeyman, said before the sinking that her triple expansion steam engines were unharmed, and that only smoke had penetrated to the rest of the ship.

Firemen were anxious to keep flames from approaching two small oil storage tanks just aft of the location of the fire.

At one time the Island Tug barge turned her huge nozzle across the deck to cool it off, sending a cascade of water across the dock and onto Chief Briers and two other firemen who were playing a hose onto the storage deck.

STAND BY

Standing by were the Island Rascal, Island Scamp, Island Imp, and the fisheries patrol vessel Tsekoa, ready to act if the fire went out of control.

The ship was one of a common type built in the United States during the war. About 160 feet in length she cost upward of $750,000 to build.

The sea-going tug is the second of her name to serve in these waters. The former Salvage King was sunk during war-time action overseas, and the new "King" arrived here in January, 1948.

Since then she has been on stand-by duty, ready to go to the rescue of ships in distress at sea.

FIRST PIPELINE OIL 11.38 SATURDAY NIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rich black oil from the Alberta fields has begun to flow into western terminus in suburban Burnaby of the $93,000,000 Trans. Mountain pipeline from Edmonton.

With a gurgle, the oil ended its journey down the 718-mile "rugged inch" at 11.38 p.m. Saturday.

Thursday, the plan for an official opening went awry when a "catch" in the line near Mount Robson failed, delaying first delivery of oil by 36 hours.

First delivery amounted to 121,000 barrels of Redwater crude. It will be followed by one of "light mixture" for the Ioco plant of Imperial Oil Company, to be followed by a run of Leduc crude.

Average quantity of flow will be 120,000 barrels a day. Regular helicopter patrols of the pipeline started Saturday.

OR WAR IS CERTAIN

UN Must Hold Israel In Bounds Says Clubb

JERUSALEM (AP)—Brig. John Baggot Clubb, long-time British commander of Jordan's tough Arab Legion, declared Sunday the Palestine war may burst forth anew unless the Big Three Western powers and the United Nations halt military action by Israel across the armistice line.

Glubb's views were stated in one of his rare interviews in the Jordan held old city of Jerusalem. Since 1930 he has been chief of staff of the Arab Legion, the only Arab military force undefeated in the 1948 Palestine war with Israel.

Glubb described the intense bitterness which he said Jordanians have felt since they accused a battalion of Israeli troops of attacking three Jordan-held Arab villages 15 miles northwest of Jerusalem last Wednesday night. The Arabs said the Israelis, using heavy mortars and mines, killed 66 persons at one of the villages, Kibya, reducing it to rubble.

Acknowledging that Israel has been provoked by infiltrations from the Jordan side, Glubb said the Israelis must deal with such infiltrations within their country and not by military incursions across the border in defiance of the 1949 armistice.

"... Clearly if the Arab Legion is to operate on the same basis as Israel's army has been doing, the armistice would rapidly come to an end and a state of war would ensue."

HEARING-AID OF THE WEEK

PROGRESS

In 1938, B. S. H. Tye, a graduate teacher of lip-reading, opened the Victoria Hearing-Aid Co. in this city.

At that time very few people with hearing-aids were to be seen in public. Today hearing-aids are seen almost everywhere. In 1938 learning to use an instrument was quite an undertaking as the sets were carbon type and seemed to amplify excessively the unwanted sounds. Then came vacuum-tube hearing-aids which are far more clear and natural than the carbon.

The year 1953 has seen the All-Transistor models come on the market, which have no tubes and use only one tiny self-contained battery and can be operated by the average case for about two dollars per year.

If you have a hearing problem you are invited to get in touch with Mr. Tye at the Victoria Hearing-Aids Co., 326 Yarrow Bldg., 625 Fort St., and take advantage of his experience in fitting hearing-aids. He wears one himself, and has done so for twenty-four years.

Record 1,500-Mile Cruise Made By Bluenose Skipper at Age 63

HAMILTON, Ont. (BUP)—A weatherbeaten 63-year-old bluenose skipper dropped anchor here at the end of a two-month, 1,500-mile journey from Parrsboro, N.S., the first time on record the trip had been made.

Ralph McCormick fought across some of the most dangerous water in the world to sail down the Bay of Fundy, across Massachusetts Bay, through Long Island Sound, up the Hudson River, along the Erie Canal and into Lake Ontario to deliver the boat his brother-in-law built three years ago.

He said his friends were surprised that he made it, and he was too.

"They all said I'd have to turn back. Confidentially, I thought so too," he said.

He added that he rather hoped American immigration authorities would turn him back for lack of a visa when he reached the international border.

"Then I could have said that at least I tried," he explained. But when he told immigration officials his story, they waved him on saying: "Good luck, I'd like to see you make it."

McCormick's brother-in-law, William McKell, designed and built the 40-foot sail and cabin cruiser, the Sylvia Jean, in his home town, Pugwash, N.S., but he left her behind when he moved to Ancaster, Ont., near Hamilton, two and a half years ago. He finally persuaded McCormick to attempt to deliver her by water from Parrsboro to Hamilton.

McCormick chose the seemingly more difficult route through the Hudson because it was 600 miles shorter than sailing around Nova Scotia and up the St. Lawrence.

The Sylvia Jean, a centre-board craft, weighs a scant three tons and has a draught of three feet. In addition to her jib and mainsail, she carries a 1951 V-8 car engine as an auxiliary. Her cabin houses two bunks, a wood stove, charts, clothing and a war surplus compass.

McCormick cruised only during the day, estimating the distance between ports so he could reach a harbor each night. When winds were favorable he hoisted the sails; otherwise he cruised at about six knots on the auxiliary engine.

His longest hop out of sight of land was across the Gulf of Maine heading into Massachusetts Bay. It took the better part of a day and he was "sure relieved" when he saw the lightship he was aiming to reach.

Reds to Spurn Parley U.S. Experts Predict

REDS WILL MEET UN ON KOREA OCTOBER 26

TOKYO (AP)—The Communists agreed today to a United Nations proposal for a meeting at Panmunjom next Monday to make plans for the Korean peace conference but they insisted on the right to decide there what nations will take part.

The United States and its allies have insisted just as strongly in earlier notes that the preliminary meeting settle only the time and place of the conference.

A Peiping radio broadcast heard here said the Red note, signed by the leaders of Communist China and North Korea, was sent to the United States through neutral Sweden.

The Red note came as there were reports from London that the western foreign ministers have agreed secretly on a new and entirely different proposal for the conference membership, the Big Five and North and South Korea.

Under this plan, Red China rather than Nationalist China would be included among the Big Five. The others are Britain, the U.S., France and Russia.

The earlier Allied proposals for the conference called for only the belligerents, with Russia sitting in on the Communist side if invited by the Reds.

The Reds had asked for a round table meeting, with five nations—Russia, India, Pakistan, Thailand, Burma—sitting in as neutrals.

Leyte Probe Opens Today

BOSTON (UP)—A three-man naval board of inquiry opened an investigation today whether sabotage caused the mystery explosion below decks of the aircraft carrier Leyte which killed 36 men and injured 40 others.

The investigators after arriving by plane from Washington went directly aboard the giant ship, moored at the Boston naval shipyard where the disaster occurred Friday. Public hearings open Tuesday morning.

Naval intelligence and FBI agents meanwhile continued a detailed examination of the battered and fire-blackened compartments four decks down in the $90,000,000 carrier which was being overhauled when the explosion sent death spewing through the bow section.

Officials were still unable to state definitely what caused the blast or pinpoint where it occurred.

"While sabotage does not seem likely at the moment," a navy spokesman said, "that phase is being completely explored in this investigation."

TRIAL 'IN ABSENTIA'

Italy to Try Americans For Wartime OSS Murder

NOVARA, Italy (UP)—Italy formally charged two American citizens today with murdering their commanding officer of a secret-behind-the-lines mission in 1944.

The Novara court of assizes read the charges after rejecting pleas that it was not authorized to try the two former soldiers who were on assignment in the Office of Strategic Services when Major William V. Holohan of New York was slain.

Former 1st Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and former Sgt. Carl G. Lodolce of Rochester, N.Y., the accused, have persistently denied the charges as "fantastic."

All attempts by Italy to extradite them to stand trial here have failed and they cannot be tried by American civilian courts because the crime occurred in Italy. The army has no jurisdiction because both men are now civilians.

TRIED 'IN ABSENTIA'
But the local court of assizes presided over by Judge Francesco Sicher has decided to try the two Americans in absentia along with three former Italian partisans.

The three Italians, Gualtiero Tozzini, Giuseppe Mannini and Aminta Migliari, will be present for the trial.

Mannini and Tozzini have been under arrest for more than four years, ever since an Italian officer called the Holohan case "murder" and fished the major's body out of the icy waters of Lake Orto.

New Western Move For Meeting on Germany, Austria

WASHINGTON (UP)—American diplomatic experts expressed doubt today that Russia will accept the latest western invitation to a Big-Four meeting on the future of Germany and Austria.

The invitation to meet at Lugano, Switzerland, on Nov. 9 was extended to Russia Sunday at the conclusion of the western Big Three foreign ministers' conference in London.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived back from London by air today to report to President Eisenhower on his talks with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Before leaving London, Dulles pronounced the Big Three meeting "extremely satisfactory—one of the best of its kind." He described the invitation to Russia as the most important work of the conference.

He said that if the foreign ministers of the Big Four should have "successful talks on Germany, it might lead to a high level conference." He evidently referred to a meeting of President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, French Premier Joseph Laniel and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

But diplomatic experts here were pessimistic about taking place, let alone finding a solution to the eighty-year-old problem of writing a peace treaty for divided Germany and Austria.

Russia has spurned several previous western proposals for a Big Four meeting on Germany, insisting always that the talks be broadened to include Red China and Far Eastern problems. This western powers have been unwilling to do.

The new invitation included a hint that the western powers are willing to broaden the proposed Lugano meeting into a general discussion of European security problems, including a non-aggression pact with Russia.

It seemed unlikely, however, that this offer would induce Russia to accept the invitation. The Soviet press has already ridiculed the idea of non-aggression guarantees as a means of easing East-West tension.

Officials believe the Soviet Union is unwilling to negotiate on Germany and Austria primarily because its position in eastern Germany was weakened by the bloody June 17 riots which posed the first real challenge to Soviet control of the zone.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The condition of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia was reported here Sunday to have taken a turn for the worse. Two French doctors, who declined to give their names, reached Beirut Saturday and went on by plane Sunday night to see the king. The 73-year-old king has been ailing for some time. Reports have been reaching here that he intends to abdicate in favor of his eldest son, Crown Prince Saud.

Israel Will Make Counter Claims

JERUSALEM (UP)—Three Israeli officials flew to New York today to lay before the United Nations Security Council countercharges of Arab "aggressions" against the Jewish state.

Premier David Ben-Gurion and his cabinet met in emergency session yesterday and decided to counter Jordan's charges with complaints against Jordan's "lawless acts."

A spokesman for the Israeli foreign office said the government would avail itself of the debate to study the whole field of security breakdowns between Israel and the Arab world.

FATHER OF TWO CHILDREN

Army Man Charged With Slaying Girl

LONDON, Ont. (BUP)—A handsome young army lieutenant was charged today with slaying the pretty reserve sergeant with whom he had been "keeping company" while on his way to spend a week-end leave with his wife and two small children.

Lieut. Peter Ernest Robin Balcombe, 24, arrested at the home of his wife's parents, was formally charged today with slaying Marie Anne Carrier, 22, of Bienville, Que.

Police said he would be taken back to Cornwall, Ont., near the scene of the crime, for arraignment, possibly Thursday.

CAR SEIZED

Police impounded his car and all his belongings immediately for scientific examination. They said they had not found the five-inch razor-sharp paring knife with which the killer stabbed the girl five times and then slashed and mutilated her nude body.

Provincial police said the search for Balcombe started as soon as the girl's three brothers grimly identified her body in a Morrisburg funeral parlor Sunday. They said she had been keeping company for some time with a man they knew only as "Pete."

A check of army records showed Balcombe had gone on a week-end pass from his Valcartier base Wednesday night. That was the night Miss Carrier disappeared after boarding a ferry for Quebec City for drill with her reserve-unit of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. Balcombe arrived in London Friday afternoon. Miss Carrier was found dead in a ditch near Ingois, Ont., north of Cornwall, at 3 p.m. Thursday and doctors said she had been killed only half an hour before.

The warrant charged the crime took place in the combined counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry. Police had not yet disclosed whether they had any information on the actual spot.

Chief Inspector Wilford J. Franks said police were not prepared to announce any motive for the slaying. But he did not deny a charge by Miss Carrier's brother that jealousy was to blame.

LANTIGEN LABORATORIES CREATE ENTIRELY NEW REMEDY FOR THE RELIEF OF THE PAIN OF

ARTHRITIS-RHEUMATISM

ORAL VACCINE and ANALGESIC COMBINED FOR FIRST TIME

Laboratory work that started in 1949 has culminated in the combination of a new treatment for the relief of Arthritic and Rheumatic pain.

The importance given to this new product, made by Lantigen Laboratories Ltd., lies in the significant combination of two factors; a tested and proven analgesic for immediate pain relief, and an oral vaccine which works through the principle of immunization. The new combination is known to the public as "Lantigesic" and is taken in liquid form.

Began in 1949

As far back as 1949, Lantigen Laboratories began experimenting with the combining of an analgesic with an oral vaccine. The problem faced by the researchers, was to find or develop an analgesic, not only compatible with the vaccine, but also effective in relieving the particular type of pain caused by Arthritis and Rheumatism. It was then found that one of the most highly regarded and universally accepted analgesics—Sodium Salicylate was efficacious and compatible with the oral vaccine. It has been combined with the vaccine in Lantigesic and tests have shown that it brings about fast, safe relief from pain.

Following Pasteur Principle

The function of an oral vaccine is to work toward helping the body fight off the disease itself. The general principle of vaccines has been proven and acknowledged since the days of Pasteur, building in the body an immunity against a specific malady. Lantigesic contains the substances which help produce a new, or reinforce an already existing resistance to the organisms causing the disorder or complaint.

Long Term Problem

Following on the statement from well known authorities, Lantigen Laboratories point out that Arthritis is a long term problem and must be treated as such. A three month treatment of Lantigesic is considered average, but this of course, varies according to the severity or mildness of each case. Early treatment and recognition, before the disease is well advanced is a definite advantage. It is strongly recommended that any person suspecting Arthritis or Rheumatism should be diagnosed by a doctor without delay.

Diet, some consider, plays an important part in the treatment. An excess of sugars and starches should be avoided and well balanced meals are very important. Rest and freedom from unnecessary worries are also important factors in the treating of Rheumatic diseases. For this reason, the immediate and continuing relief from pain granted by the analgesic, may well have a decided psychological as well as physical benefit.

Now Available to Public

Lantigesic has now been made available to the public. It is sold through all good drug stores. In the event of any difficulty just write to Lantigen Laboratories Ltd., Saanichton, B.C.

Canada and the Vatican

A SERIES OF SERMONS preached in the Protestant churches of Winnipeg and printed in The Winnipeg Free Press protests against the appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican. But there is nothing to indicate that the Canadian Government has any such intention.

The exact words of Mr. St. Laurent on this subject, spoken at Thetford Mines, Quebec, last July 21, were reported at the time as follows: "This is no time to make such an appointment the basis of a religious dispute in Canada. There are honest Canadians who will interpret this gesture as an insult against their religion. They are wrong, and I might add that, if the matter rested only with my colleagues, the appointment would be made. But what would be the good of arousing a religious quarrel?"

In other words, the Prime Minister and, apparently, his cabinet, would favor diplomatic representation at the Vatican but they regard it as unwise as, indeed, it would be in the extreme.

Since religion and politics in Canada are absolutely separated, as they should be, the Government has to consider solely the practical question whether it needs an ambassador to the head of the Roman Catholic Church. For diplomatic purposes, obviously it does not. Whatever information the Pope wishes to convey to the Canadian Government can be conveniently conveyed to the Canadian ambassador at Rome or through the representatives of the Church already resident in this country.

By sending an ambassador to the Vatican the Government would recognize one Church as a temporal power and in logic would be bound to extend the same recognition to other Churches. And that would introduce religious dispute directly into our politics, as Mr. St. Laurent says.

In the United States, when former President Truman proposed to send an ambassador to Rome he was met with such a general protest that the plan was hurriedly dropped. In Canada, for historical, racial and religious reasons, there certainly would be a much more serious controversy under the same circumstances.

There would be, as Mr. St. Laurent observes, "a religious quarrel" and it is impossible to imagine anything which would more gravely damage the unity of the nation which the career of the Prime Minister has done so much to promote. Undoubtedly he would be the last man to introduce such a schism into the state when he has worked so long and so successfully to prevent it.

The Canadian state thrives on the basis of a wide tolerance, perhaps unique in the world. No Ottawa government in its senses would discriminate against any religious belief or favor one belief over another. In the eyes of government all must be equal and all free to follow and to preach their own doctrines.

For this reason the present cabinet, whatever its private religious beliefs may be, evidently does not propose to divide the nation in a "religious quarrel."

Of Giant Stature

THE AWARD OF THIS YEAR'S Nobel prize for literature to Sir Winston Churchill will have occasioned little surprise other than that this recognition had not been accorded earlier.

The announcement coincides opportunely, however, with the publication of the final volume of Churchill's memoirs of the Second World War—a six-volume opus which is widely viewed as the crowning achievement of a distinguished writing career.

"Triumph and Tragedy," which deals with events from the Normandy invasion to the Yalta and Potsdam meetings, rounds out a unique, "inside" account of the war, and its serialization in The Victoria Daily Times, starting next week-end, is a major journalistic event.

The magnitude of Sir Winston's literary labors—spectacular in itself—its even more outstanding when seen in relation to his other activities.

For Churchill is a spare-time author. While other writers, perhaps equally prolific in their fields, have devoted full time to their professional output, Sir Winston—has been brilliant in half a dozen careers.

Much of his writing has been sandwiched in between hours devoted to momentous affairs of state, to vital decisions of policy in national and international matters, to political campaigns and other concerns of the statesman.

Nor has authorship had full claim on the off-hours. Painting, of a high quality, brick-laying and riding have provided relaxation for the only "Elizabethan Man" this age has produced. And when we add to these accomplishments Sir Winston's prodigious feats of oratory, his military sagacity and his wartime leadership of a great nation through its darkest yet finest hour, the average human can only stand in awe and wonder.

Reflecting Canada's Attitude

IN AN INTERESTING STUNT IN Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader George Drew posed shoulder to shoulder in a mobile chest X-ray unit to give publicity to Canada's fight against tuberculosis.

The occasion, the Prime Minister noted, was one on which the leaders of the nation's two main parties were in agreement. His remark did not, as some cynics have suggested, refer to the picture of the event showing Mr. Drew with little left but his shirt. It concerned the universal attitude of Canadians towards the campaign against TB.

This unanimity of thought on tuberculosis is an old story now in this country. Yet it is worth recalling that a generation or two ago, the disease was one discussed generally in hushed tones. There was something indelicate in the mere mention of it—an implied source of shame to the victim.

In recent years that false attitude has been stripped away. Canada has made monumental strides toward the goal of controlling tuberculosis. That progress has been accomplished to a substantial degree by intensive research and the advancement of medicine. But the progress in that field has been possible largely because of an enlightened public approach to the problem.

Here, surely, is the guide to attacks on other killing and crippling ailments. The attitude of people, informed and unafraid, is the basis from which such crusades start successfully.

Soviet Embassy--The Very Silent Service

BY ANTHONY DICKASON, From Ottawa

DESPITE the recent appointment of a new Russian ambassador to Canada, viewed by political observers here as "a sign of better relations," the cloak of reserve which has wrapped the Russian embassy here for years has by no means been flung aside.

Relations between Canada and the Soviet Union have been chilly since the night in 1945 when code clerk Igor Gouzenko fled the embassy and revealed it as a base for Communist spy activities. The first conciliatory gesture since then was the appointment in late August of Stepanovich Chuvashkin as Russian ambassador.

With the somewhat relaxed approach to the West which has seemingly followed Stalin's death, we thought it might be a good time to take a peek behind the local "iron curtain" providing embassy officials agreed.

They did and they didn't.

This is what happened. We approached the huge embassy, a former private home in Ottawa's exclusive Sandy Hill district, walked up a short driveway and rang the bell. Admitted to a small vestibule, we peered through a glass-enclosed counter-like space such as are found in some convent entrances.

Barely visible behind the glass was a short, broad man.

"Yes?" he queried in an accented voice.

"Could I see Mr. Teplov or Mr. Bour-dine please?" Léonid F. Teplov is counsellor and charge d'affaires at the embassy; Vladimir P. Bourdine is first secretary. The short man signalled to wait.

The vestibule had one chair, placed by a table on which sat an ash tray. Two cigarettes later the inner door opened and a young woman beckoned. We walked through a large imposing foyer centred by a broad staircase and into a drawing room.

"You want to see Mr. Teplov?" she asked. Her hair was black and straight back. She was a little on the dumpy side, but extremely polite. "What about this?" and she pointed.

We explained we would like to ask some questions about the embassy. She nodded towards a settee and left.

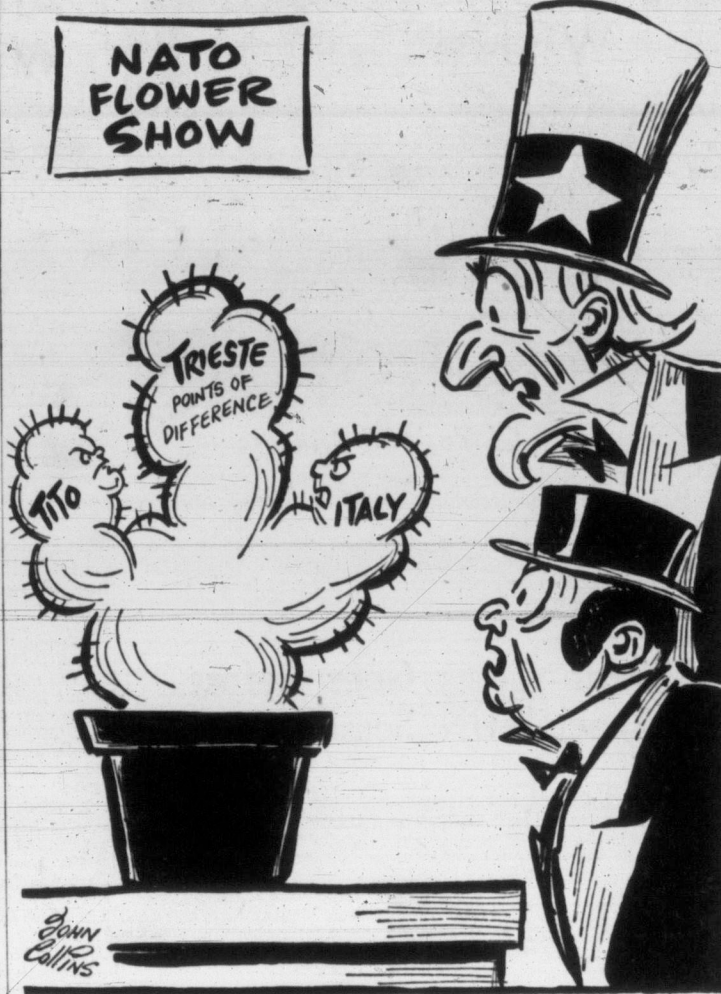

In the distance a typewriter banged away. From somewhere in the building a small boy was shouting. The drawing room was pleasant; wide, heavy blue satin drapes hung by three tall windows; a fireplace centred the room; pastoral scenes graced the walls. It was a dignified room, not overly loaded with furniture. There were no political pictures.

Two more cigarettes. Then a short dark man, about 35, entered.

"Mr. Bourdine is away. I am Mr. Chitayev," he said. Vassili Chitayev is another first secretary. He spoke English well, though slowly.

We explained that with the somewhat eased relations between Russia and the

BEFORE sending it off to the New Yorker, which probably won't use it, I feel I should share with you Old Testament scholars the following clipping from the Kingston (Ontario) Whig-Standard:

"Patrick Michael Storrer, the grand old Irishman of the Senior Citizens' Club of Kingston, must surely have kissed the Blarney Stone," said Mrs. K. Whitney, in her talk to Kinetics at their regular dinner meeting in the La Salle Hotel. Patrick was lonely, she explained, he wanted to be among people his own age, and his eyes sparkled when he said 'Faith, and you're doing just what the Seventh Commandment says you should do... honor your father and your mother'."

he among people his own age, and his eyes sparkled when he said 'Faith, and you're doing just what the Seventh Commandment says you should do... honor your father and your mother'."

I CAN HARDLY WAIT

WHILE on the subject of really frantic newspaper clippings, did your local movie house ever show an opus called "South Sea Women"? Ours did. I see by an old clipping I have just thrown off my desk. I don't know if the advertisement was written by Warner Bros. or by the local Flickmaster, but it is entirely charming. How do they think of these things? "They called him Sergeant Muscles, the fightin'-maddest Marine who ever Leathernecked his way from the hula-lulus of Honolulu to the Bikini-babes of Zamboanga! And they called her Ginger Snap, the shim-sham-shimmest stowaway that ever can-canned her way from Hong Kong to Pago Pago!" I think both those exclamations marks are fully justified, weak though that form of punctuation usually is.

KEEP your eyes open and you learn something new every hour or sixteen facts a day. I'd never known that the shimmy and the can-can were ever the rage in Hong Kong or Pago Pago. Or that you can shimmy a can-can anyhow. Anything to do with catch-as-catch-can? Or that stowaways get by on the can-can. As for the connection between Bikini in the Marshalls and Zamboanga in the Philippines, I always knew they had much in common but hadn't realized it was babes. It's the same with the Solomon Island girls of Old Tahiti.

YOU know, this hinting at toughness and lasciviousness merely by stringing together a few foreign place-names is rather fun. A master mariner once told me that if you knew where to look, Vancouver could be quite as nasty as Macao or Port Said... nastier, in a way, because everything seems so innocent on the surface. But you couldn't get people to the movies by saying "He was the routin'-tootin'-est cussin'-est shoot-in'-est bosun that ever took a bus from Point Grey to Keeler Street. She was the hottest, fastest, blood-thirstiest cutie that ever looked like death-warmed-up when she swung her left hip against the Marine Building and her right one against the Hotel Vancouver while walking along Pender Street."

NO, you've got to go foreign. Something like this: "They called him Mister Ligament, and he was the most anatomical ape that ever scowled people to death in Tierra del Fuego, where the girls from Tunis all have summer cottages. They called her the Black Snowdrop, and she was the hard-boiled little neckpiece that ever thumbed a ride from Omsk to Fanning Island."

There isn't much on Fanning, really, except a cable station and some Gilbertese natives who're picking coconuts when they're not singing hymns. But it suggests fan-dancing. And undoubtedly the Black Snowdrop was the fan-dancing little morsel that ever wagged her pinions at a helpless tycoon. Turning him, I need hardly add, from a tycoon into a typhoon. Which reminds me... the Black Snowdrop had a young sister, Larva. She began life as a mere worm, but after spinning a tycoon she emerged as a butterfly.

OBVIOUS, ISN'T IT?

I DARE say this is the wrongest time of year for trimming hedges. But don't tell me that now. The deed is done. In pruning the worst of the hedges, I was balanced on about two toes on top of a very rickety stepladder, with my head thrust through a clothes-line that would break my neck if I fell. I was wielding a great long pair of shears whose very weight was murder, and whose blades kept falling off the handles into the depths of the hedge. I was cursing freely. But the children romping around the lawn below me were making so much noise, only one of them heard me.

Knowing the tune as well as the words of my song, he cautioned his loudest pal to make a less horrible din. "Daddy is trying to work. He doesn't like noise when he works. Or even when he drives a car at busy corners. Or even when he's just typewriting. Pipe down, Johnny, will you?"

JOHNNY was not impressed. "Work" is a horrible word to Johnny Smith. He glows with fat and leisure. The other children in Grade III have to push him up the hill to school (quite literally), and he likes that. But he didn't think I was working very hard, and said so. "That's not much work Mr. Brock's doing," he said contemptuously. "Oh, yes, it is," said my son Tim. "It's very hard work. Look at him sweat. Listen how cross he is."

"It is not," said Johnny Smith lazily. "If it was hard work, he wouldn't be doing it." I like to feel this was a reflection on my pep and zip than a tribute to my intelligence. Coming from the fattest boy in the village, I mean.

FINAL CHOICE

I remember that as a child I wanted to be a great film star, then a ventriloquist, an actor, an explorer and a musician. None of these ambitions were realized. Then one evening I suddenly wrote a long piece of blank verse, and I decided to be a poet. It had so many advantages: I need no expensive equipment, no private lessons, and I could do it sitting down.

A Compromise on Trieste

BY WALTER LIPPMAN N. From Washington

THE controlling consideration about Trieste today is that the problem is insoluble by a direct agreement between Rome and Belgrade. Neither government has dared to agree to a reasonable compromise: each would have been attacked by the extreme nationalists at home as appeasing, unprincipled traitors, etc., etc.

Since the two governments could not negotiate their own agreement, since neither could publicly and in advance approve any compromise, the wisest and the kindest thing to do was what we have done—to impose the only conceivable, rational and fair compromise. This spared them both the embarrassment of having had to accept it or reject it before it was announced. For, like most governments today, they are not entirely free to act as sensibly as they might be willing to act.

The compromise that Britain and the United States are "imposing" is in fact the only settlement that Rome and Belgrade could have reached—supposing that they both had been free to seek a settlement, that neither had been the captive of its own extreme nationalists.

The territory of Trieste was set apart in the peace treaty of 1946 because it contains a mixed population of Italians and Yugoslavs. There is no way of drawing a frontier which will put all the Italians on one side and all the Yugoslavs on the other side.

BOUNDARY LINE

Within this mixed territory there has been since the beginning a boundary line separating Zone B, which is occupied by the Yugoslav Army, from Zone A, which contains the city of Trieste and is occupied by a British-American Army.

The boundary line between Zone A and Zone B is as good a boundary as can be drawn in this mixed territory. The least one can say for it is that it has been acceptable to the people of the territory for the past six years. It is not unreasonable, therefore, to suppose that it could continue to be acceptable if the Italians, who administer Zone A, and the Yugoslavs, who administer Zone B, both set themselves against racial discrimination and discouraged all incitement and provocation against the minorities.

There is, of course, a theoretical alternative to partition—namely, the little independent republic under the United Nations which was envisaged in the peace treaty of 1946. This would be the ideal solution if everybody concerned—Italy and Yugoslavia primarily, the Big Four secondarily—were united in their determination to make it work.

But there has never at any time been any genuine general support for an independent republic of Trieste. It can fairly be said that the Soviet government's sudden display of interest in this solution is more than six years too late. The original Trieste solution, like the Yalta agreement about Poland and the Potsdam agreement about Germany, belongs to an era when there was still a hope and a belief that the great powers could collaborate in the administration of peace. These solutions require active, continual, positive and detailed co-operation. We are now living in an era when the world's best hope is not that kind of collaboration but a reasonably secure co-existence.

NOT COMPLETED

When governments are able to do nothing better than to co-exist they could never make a success of anything so complicated, so advanced, one might say so civilized, as a United Nations trusteeship of Trieste.

The British-American diplomatic action is, of course, not completed. There will be no peace if the Italians go on trying to get Zone B and the Yugoslavs to get Zone A. To go on with the quarrel is as unprofitable and distracting for both Rome and Belgrade as it is dangerous to the peace of Europe.

Yet the quarrel will go on if the extremists see any prospect of exploiting it. It is, therefore, the real interest of the two governments—both faced with enormously important domestic problems of reconstruction—to have this quarrel ended.

It is the duty of the great powers, and a most friendly act, to see that this quarrel is ended. It is, therefore, necessary for them to button up the action that they have taken by an unequivocal guarantee of the partition. This might take the form of a declaration that they regard this as the moment to make an end of all territorial claims between Italy and Yugoslavia and that the frontier which is now being established should be guaranteed by NATO.

As Our Readers See It

BEING DIFFERENT

Mr. Bruce Hutchison—it is difficult for us not to take Mr. Hutchison (who is lionized elsewhere) for granted. He, the hanging flower baskets of Victoria—in Thursday's Times writes of aristocracy and Dr. Sidney Smith of Toronto's University (so an item in the Times of September 24 informs us) speaks of characters. A link of not undeniable strength joins them. Mr. Hutchison is jeering at our self-imposed importance and Dr. Smith is crying out for our individualism.

No doubt it is hard for Dr. Smith to have to settle for batches of stereotypes. But if you take people, and ask them to be different, they just stare at you as though you are off your rocker.

Take a village. The women—99 out of 100—will be content to sit back and embroider their dollies. Watch them all get up in arms, and say they are different, and ask them to prove it, and they all sink back in lethargy.

Mrs. Arsens is a case in point. (She comes from a larger village.) She has an opportunity to get up and say something for posterity and what does she do? Gets up and talks about some footling issue that isn't any more important than the embroidering of dollies. Sanitation is important. But the system—as it exists in Victoria for disposing of waste—is adequate till the symptoms of unrest and uncertainty (which are a big issue) are ironed out. And they are not going to be ironed out till the trend is universal to think of the other fellow and forget the cartels.

Dr. Smith cries out for characters. I don't blame him. It is a long way to expect civilization to be just round the corner when you have everybody afraid to think for himself and afraid to be not conventional and stereotyped.

AGRICULTURAL SHOWS

A few weeks ago your columnist David Brock contributed all his space to the PNE (Pacific National Exhibition), Vancouver, in such a way that we might say that he "chipped" so persistently that there was nothing left. I have been surprised that, so far, none of your readers—possible entrants or visitors of the PNE—have raised a protest against David Brock's derogatory comment.

I have never been to the PNE, so far, cannot afford it. But by skipping to the limit—even beyond that—on other things, I have sent some entries for quite a few years—interrupted 34 years ago by Newcastle disease in B.C.; and the last few years I added some fruit to my poultry entries, even though that fruit had to compete against entries from the Okanagan.

But that is just the point. Every producer of agriculture or other products, who puts his heart into it, who takes pride in his work, likes to compete with others to find out how his finished product compares with that of others, even if there is no financial reward worth talking about connected with winning. And though there are of course flaws in the running of things at the PNE—where not?—the PNE gives that chance of friendly competition with your-better-for those of us who have perhaps started out at local small shows, and especially for Victoria and surroundings, since the Willows show has disappeared a dozen years ago, the PNE is, in my opinion, of great value.

To give an example, the president of the Metcoshin Farmers' Institute, which institute stages a yearly fall fair at Luxton, D. Richards got this year a calf club together and is already counting on entering an exhibit at the PNE in the near future. He took seven or eight youngsters of that club to the Saanichton show this year. Surely, Mr. Brock, the practical education which these youngsters get in this way is of great value for their whole life, and the PNE does a good job in giving them the opportunity to meet there with more experienced producers, so, perhaps, preparing them for competition at a higher level, as at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

There are many of us who deplore the disappearance of the Victoria Willows show which was the natural centre for lower Vancouver Island. I remember, when coming to this country over 26 years ago, people saying that there were about 70 millionaires around Victoria; don't know if that was correct, but surely there must be plenty of capital available to make a new start and a suitable location can be found.

Is Victoria as a whole so disinterested that we can't tackle that job? Come on, let us band together and start building up; the wrecking has been done.

The Will to Serve

high schools this month.

Members of a class were instructed, without prior warning, to write brief paragraphs on their hopes and aspirations. One girl of 14 thought she would like to work in an office after she had received as much education as she could get. She believed she might change her mind on the actual job, but on one score she was positive. She knew the type of individual she wanted to be.

"I want to have," she wrote, "an all-round developed character, a gentle and understanding spirit, and a thoughtful mind. I would like to learn from greater people and give help to weaker ones. Perhaps it is from the seemingly weak that one learns most. I want to strive to be a better citizen in my city, province and country. All this will help me prepare for a higher citizenship above."

That is a paragraph from one of the short essays the teachers found particularly appealing. Some of the rest were more material. Students had ambitions to be scientists, airline stewardesses, and even journeymen.

THEY WANT TO SERVE

But in the listing of work they wanted to do, the youngsters showed an inclination to fields of service—consciously or unconsciously. Nine wanted to be nurses, seven school teachers, four lab technicians and one looked forward to becoming a missionary.

The glamour jobs older people imagine younger people hunger for weren't given much representation. One boy wanted to join the air force, another to take up flying, military or civilian. Still another hoped to join the RCMP.

But there wasn't one girl pining to be a moving picture star. And there were no instances in which the yearning for financial security appeared uppermost in a student's mind.

Just possibly the later will develop as the youngsters grow older. We're led to expect that by columnists who lament the alleged decline of the adventurous spirit in youth.

Probably these young people are at an age when idealism reaches its peak. And, by the assessment of their teachers, they represent a cross section of a slightly above-average group.

FECKLESS GENERATION

Despite that grading, however, they are products of a home and school environment over which adverse critics shake their heads. This is the young generation that is considered by its elders to be feckless, thoughtless and self-centred—just as the young generation of early Greek civilization appeared feckless, thoughtless and self-centred to the adults of that day.

Maybe they justify old John Dean's appreciation of the artlessness of the young. Maybe, if they continue to express the sentiments of the 14-year-old who aims at better citizenship, they may make some improvement in the "rotten world" the old fellow didn't mind leaving.

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

On Not Lying to Children

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Often in the old days, 40 years or more ago, when I used to make calls in people's homes or when I used to treat children in the office, I used to be distressed at hearing a mother say, over and over again, when perhaps I was going to stick the child's ear for a little blood, "Now this isn't going to hurt at all; this won't hurt the tiniest bit, etc." Usually I would say to the mother, "I'm sorry to contradict you, but I fear this will hurt a bit; but it will be nothing that a brave child like this will bother much about. I myself have been stuck this way many a time; I never liked it, but I could take it."

Or, perhaps, when I have had to give a hypodermic injection to a child, I have said, "This is going to hurt and sting a bit, big man as I am, I am scared of a needle; I don't like it, but I would be ashamed to fuss about it. I think you are going to be brave and you are going to take it as I do, without crying." Usually, when talked to frankly in this way, a child will behave well, and the next time the doctor has to do some hurting he and his little friend will get along well together, because between them there is trust and confidence.

But the mother may have a terrible time when she has to take her child to the dentist or to some unknown doctor because the youngster has long since discovered that she is a liar whose word cannot be trusted at all. Because of this, the child often becomes more and more alarmed and uncontrolled the longer she talks. A wise doctor quickly gets her out of the room and then has no more trouble with the child.

I hate to hear anyone lying to children. While on the street I hear mothers saying, "If you don't behave I will give you to that policeman," or "If you are a bad girl we'll push you out on the sidewalk and get rid of you." I can't imagine anything much worse to do to a child, and yet how many parents do it! Today the psychiatrists keep talking constantly about a child's great need for a sense of security, but how is a child to feel secure when his parents threaten to leave him out in the cold?

I cannot remember my parents ever lying to me about anything, and hence I trusted them absolutely. I can remember when I was about seven and I fell and cut my scalp on a sharp piece of stone; my doctor father said, "I am sorry, but I will have to put in a few stitches to close that wound. It will hurt but it won't hurt very long." As a result, when he started pushing the needle through my flesh I made no fuss because I trusted Dad; he said the pain would be bearable, and it was.

NO AID FOR SMALL BREASTS

Many a woman is unhappy because her breasts are too small, and she wonders if the taking of some female hormone might not increase their size. The other day I asked one of the country's authorities in the field of hormones if there was any truth in the idea that a woman born with small breasts could have them enlarged by the use of any drugs. He said, no; that the only women who might conceivably be helped are those born with such small or deficient ovaries that they have never menstruated well or at all, or women who lost their ovaries by operation in the early twenties. They might conceivably be helped because they do not have enough ovarian hormone in their body.

The woman who has normal amounts of hormone, as shown by the fact that she menstruates regularly and perhaps has had children, is not likely to be helped by the giving of any more of the substance. Hormones are like keys that open up certain chemical processes in the body: as I often say, if I have with me a key to my front door it won't help me to carry around a half-dozen keys; one is plenty.

Some drug houses have sold creams containing female hormone which a woman could rub into her breasts, but it is doubtful if the desired results can often be obtained from their use. In a lay journal I see a report that a surgeon has devised an operation to make small breasts seem larger. Through a small incision he stuffs in some gauze-like material back of the breast to push it forward. If I were a woman, I certainly would not rush to have this operation done on me. I'd wait—and let some other woman be the guinea-pig.

I remember too well the awful messes some women got into years ago when surgeons tried to fill out thin places on women's faces and necks and breasts with paraffin. Lumpy tumors formed and had to be dug out with much pain and expense.

Alberta Tot Shot in Stomach While Playing in Backyard

RAYMOND, Alta. (BUP)—Police today searched this southern Alberta community for the person who shot little Robert Exluse in the stomach Sunday afternoon when he was playing in the backyard of his home.

The six-year-old child was rushed to Municipal Hospital suffering from a gunshot wound in the lower abdomen. Hospital authorities today described his condition as satisfactory, but said the bullet had not been removed.

His father, who was near Bobby at the time, reported the youngster suddenly screamed and fell to the ground clutching his stomach. Bobby was playing with the family dog in the backyard.

Police said the shot may have come accidentally from some body playing with a .22 calibre rifle, or been fired by a hunter in the nearby bush.

BOYS BLAMED FOR FIRE

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (BUP)—Two young boys were blamed today for setting fire to a wide-spread area of this city's Crescent Heights sector.

The prairie fire was whip-lashed over a wide patch of grassland before being curbed, but no property damage was reported.

FORESTRY AWARDS

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—Gold medals will be awarded each year to the outstanding graduated forestry student at the Universities of British Columbia, Toronto, Laval and New Brunswick, the Canadian Institute of Forestry announced today.

The medal, first award to be made by the institute for scholastic achievement, will go to the student at each university with the best record during his college career, starting next spring.

The announcement was made by K. G. Fensom of Vancouver.

GRAND PRAIRIE MAN KILLED

HALIFAX (CP)—Ab. Charles Smart, 19, of Grand Prairie, Alta., was killed Sunday when his motor scooter collided with a car at an intersection.

FARMERS' UNION GET SEAT

SASKATOON, Sask. (BUP)—The recently-formed Ontario

Farmers' Union has been granted a seat on the Interprovincial Farm Union Council.

J. L. Phelps, council chairman, announced that the Ontario representative made the group a 10-member body with three members from each of the prairie provinces and one from Ontario.

BUGS HIT CROPS

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—Infestations by greenbugs, tiny plant lice, in fall rye and pasture growths have been reported from the Birch Hills area and some crops have been "wiped out," agricultural representative Murdoch Mackay reported here.

Gauting farmers, he said "a great deal of damage may occur before freeze-up."

Second lecture of a 1953-54 series sponsored by the University Extension Association at the Normal School-Victoria College auditorium is scheduled this evening at 8.15.

Dr. G. M. Shrum, head of the department of physics, University of British Columbia, and a director of the B.C. Research Council, will speak on some of the peace-time dividends which may be derived from the billions being spent on atomic and hydrogen bombs. The lecture will be open to the public.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE
RECORD TO DATE, 1953—
1,758.5 HOURS

SYNOPSIS—The Canadian weather ship battled 45-foot waves and hurricane winds up to 110 miles per hour during an intense storm overnight. Winds of 65 miles per hour were still reported at the ship early this morning. At the same time 50-mile gales reached the northern B.C. coast but gave indication of being of shorter duration.

Sunshine will prevail in the southern interior today but cloudiness and occasional rain will spread to other sections of the province. Partial clearing will follow the storm Tuesday but scattered showers are looked for in coastal districts.

Discrepancies. Charged in Kidnap Case

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The St. Louis Post Dispatch said today the FBI has found a number of discrepancies in the police report of the arrest of kidnapper Carl Austin Hall and the recovery of less than half of the $600,000 Bobby Greenlease ransom.

The newspaper said the written police report showed that Hall was brought to the Newstead Avenue station with two suitcases containing money after his arrest on Oct. 6 at the Townhouse Apartment Hotel here.

But the FBI has determined the newspaper quoted an unidentified informant as saying that no suitcases were brought with Hall to the station.

Instead, the Post Dispatch's informant said, the suitcases were not brought to the station until more than an hour later. When the money was counted it amounted to $294,000.

The paper said the only money brought to the station with Hall was about $500 in his wallet, which was taken from him when he was booked.

Informed of the Post Dispatch story, St. Louis police commissioner I. A. Long said he had "no comment."

N.Y. Politician Explains Visit to Jailed Labor Boss

NEW YORK (UP)—New York's embattled acting lieutenant-governor said today he visited a convicted labor racketeer in prison because he was the "zone man" with the influence to settle union jurisdictional disputes.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican majority leader and next in line to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey who has demanded Wicks' resignation, took his appeal to the people in a televised address explaining his dealings with convicted extortionist Joseph E. Fay.

Wicks said Fay, who is serving a 7½ to 15-year sentence, is "the one man whom labor trusted" in settling jurisdictional disputes.

Fay even though confined in a cell at Sing Sing still managed to arrange "an early solution" to union disputes in the state senator's home district, the veteran GOP leader said.

Dewey demanded Wicks' resignation last week, asserting he had hurt the Republican party nationally. Wicks refused. Instead he offered to submit his resignation as majority leader and president pro-tem of the Senate to the legislature's upper House and let his colleagues decide on his fitness. Dewey then called a special session of the legislature to begin a month from today.

Pulp, Paper Workers In Ontario Vote For Strike Action

TORONTO (UP)—Workers in six of Ontario's major pulp and paper centres voted overwhelmingly Sunday night to strike for a 5 per cent wage increase.

The International Union of Papermakers said the walkout would completely cripple all the towns involved.

Vice-president J. A. D'Oust said the union executive would call a meeting immediately and would seek sanction for a strike from international headquarters in Albany, N.Y.

The strike vote was ordered after a majority conciliation board report recommended against any increase over the present $1.41 base rate. The union said the companies had proposed a 3 per cent cut in pay.

NO HOPE FOR 9 AIRMEN DITCHED IN ATLANTIC

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—All hope was abandoned Sunday night for nine men of a United States Navy plane which ditched Sunday in heavy seas of the North Atlantic off Iceland.

A sea search was called off after the plane's rubber dinghy was found empty.

A fierce gale was blowing in the area southwest of Iceland where the dinghy was sighted by a search plane.

The plane came down on the ocean after radioing that it had engine trouble. The message was received 48 minutes after it took off from here.

French Troops Threaten 40,000 Viet Minh Rebels

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Communist guerrillas made a diversionary attack within the Red River delta Sunday night but were driven off after a five-hour artillery barrage. Details of the raid on a Viet Nam outpost only 12 miles south of here were withheld but French headquarters said the Reds suffered "heavy losses."

A French spokesman said Communist forces launched a sharp flanking counterattacks against two French units Sunday night some 50 miles south of here. They were beaten back after furious close-quarter fighting that lasted until dawn.

First reports said the Communists suffered 142 known dead, 30 assumed dead, and many wounded and captured. The spokesman said, French Union casualties were not disclosed.

The French forces driving on Thanh Hoa headquarters of the Reds' 304th division, captured a huge Red arsenal. Large quantities of Chinese-supplied equipment were seized some 20 miles from Ninh Binh.

Churchill Honorary President of Fencers

LONDON (AP)—Another honor was bestowed on Sir Winston Churchill Saturday. The prime minister was named first honorary president of the Amateur Fencing Association.

As a student in 1892, Churchill won the public schools foil championship.

SQUARE ALPHABET
ROME (Reuters)—A three-sided square is the only symbol in a new alphabet devised by Italian Prof. Vittorio Terracini, who hopes it will speed up world tele-communications. He reproduces the letters and figures of the Western alphabet by altering the position of the square's open end in relation to a horizontal line.

Tito Backs Up; Slavs Won't Fight Allies

BELGRADE (UP)—President Tito said today a clash is inevitable if Italian troops enter Zone A of Trieste under Anglo-American protection, but appeared to be backing down from previous stern statements.

Yugoslavs will not fight against their American and British allies, Tito said.

In an interview with a London newspaper widely reprinted and broadcast here, Tito warned of "catastrophic reaction" if the west did not "at the least" modify its decision to hand Zone A to Italy.

Tito's suggestion that the Trieste decision be "modified, at least so we can talk about it," appeared to indicate he would accept eventually the basic idea of dividing the Trieste territory with Italy, if it could be arranged through consultations.

"I wish to state categorically that our troops will not fight against the Anglo-American troops," he said.

LINIMENT HELPS ARTHRITICS WHEN WONDER DRUGS FAIL

NEW YORK (AP)—Old-fashioned liniment is sometimes better than the wonder hormones to relieve pain or arthritis and rheumatism, a medical study said Sunday.

The liniment, a famous one first developed 75 years ago for horses, is credited with relieving pain and permitting more movement in 82 per cent of 148 arthritis and rheumatism patients tested at the New England Medical Centre and Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge, Mass.

The report is made in the Connecticut Medical Journal by Drs. Heinrich Brugsch and Ralph Manning of Tufts College medical school and arthritis clinics in the Boston area.

Most of the 148 were patients who had not been measurably benefited by the anti-arthritis hormones, cortisone and ACTH, or other treatments, they said.

Hobo 'King' Behind Bars; First Time in His 71 Years

BY CHARLES E. TAYLOR
United-Press Staff Writer

MIAMI (UP)—Bearded, 71-year-old Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes," peered with ruffled dignity from behind bars today for the first time in his 50-year career as "the world's foremost vagabond."

Davis, his shabby beard and goatee long turned grey, said he was worried about what his "millions of friends all over the world" would think of his being in jail.

But Davis held no ill-feeling for Miami police, who put him in jail last night on a vagrancy charge. "I was wrong," he said. "I got a little drunk and they took me in."

Davis found himself among friends and long-time admirers, many of them surprised to find that Davis was "still around."

One of his friends turned out to be jailer Eddie Deal, who more than 20 years ago ran away from home and as a 14-year-old youth aspired to an "adventurous" life as a wanderer.

"I ran into Jeff Davis in a jungle outside of Kansas City," Deal said. "He guessed that I was just a kid and told me to go on home and not turn into a hobo like him."

Davis started out in San Francisco 59 years ago. He became head man of the hoboes when his 92-year-old father died, re-

Miners' Strike In Quebec Idles Close to 7,000

NORANDA, Que. (UP)—Some 350 more miners manned picket lines in this mining district today and the United Steelworkers' Union threatened to call out 450 more this week.

Workers at Normetal, a copper and zinc producer 74 miles north of here, walked off the job Saturday, bringing the number of strike-bound mines in northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec to 10 and the total of men out of work close to 7,000.

Union organizer Marcel Sauze said negotiators would meet in the next few days with officials of Waite Amulet, the only major mine still operating in the Quebec area, to try to reach a settlement. The 450 Waite Amulet workers already have voted to strike.

It speaks volumes for your good taste

Much has been written in praise of Scotch Whisky as a drink above all others. To appreciate fully its delightful qualities you cannot do better than call for "Black & White". Here is a Scotch that speaks volumes for good taste and judgment. Blended in the special "Black & White" way it is the most rewarding of all drinks.

Relic of Sir James Douglas' Day Shows Cathedral Parish Origin

It might be said Christ Church Cathedral parish had its beginnings in territory now belonging to the United States, Archbishop H. E. Sexton said during his sermon in the Cathedral Sunday morning.

This book, the Archbishop said, was one of the most treasured articles in the family.

The Hudson's Bay Company had a post at Fort Vancouver, now in Washington State, where a chaplain was appointed early in the last century.

The Archbishop held up for the congregation's view a book more than 100 years old, the original register from Fort Vancouver.

The first entry in the book, he added, was probably a record of the marriage of Sir James Douglas, first governor of Vancouver Island, and later of British Columbia. The entry read simply: "James Douglas" with the date February

Vamps Edge Bays

Retain Third Place, Sailors Nip Cadets

Vampires 15, Whiteys 11
Navy 7, Royal Roads 5

Navy and C & C Taxi Vampires of the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League each had a problem to solve over the week-end. In obtaining the solutions, these clubs also supplied two excellent football games for the combined crowd of approximately 3,000.

The sailors' pose was to operate successfully without the services of quarterback Cam McIntyre, suspended recently as an ineligible player. This the tars countered with a third-string signal caller and eked out a 7-5 victory over Royal Roads Saturday.

The Vampire problem was a little more critical—they had to defeat Oak Bay Whiteys Sunday to retain their grip on third place, the last playoff position. This they did.

Refusing to quit, the Vamps twice erased Oak Bay leads and scored a touchdown in the last three minutes of the game to top a merited 15-11 victory.

Again it was a pious pass defense that spelled Whiteys' doom. As it was, Vamps had two touchdowns called back on penalties.

Oak Bay scored first at 10 minutes of the first quarter. After Gordy Bennett had taken Denny Boyd's pass down to the Vampire five-yard line, fullback Don Donahue plunged over for the major, converted by Ken Higgins.

Vampires had all the play in the second half as their tricky backfield work at times had Oak Bay befuddled. After a touchdown by Vic Gallop had been called back for holding, Pete Ash went over from 12 yards out on an end run. The convert was blocked. Minutes later Ash hit Chuck Bishop with a pass in the end zone but the score was nullified by an off-side call.

TWO SINGLES
Oak Bay added two single points in the third quarter on kicks by Higgins and Bud French but Vampires took a 10-8 lead when Bishop went over on a 20-yard run.

Bennett intercepted a Vampire pass in the fourth quarter and was stopped on the Vampire 40. Higgins tossed a long one to Bill Dawson down to the 36 and then kicked a field goal from a difficult angle, the ball bouncing over off the legs to give Oak Bay the lead again, 11-10.

However, Vampires were not to be denied. A 15-yard penalty to Oak Bay, and a pass from Ash to Gallop took the ball down to the Oak Bay five from where Bishop punched over for the winning score.

On Saturday Navy used chunky John Noyes to replace the flashy McIntyre and the substitute turned in a workmanlike job.

However, Navy's real hero was fleet Dave McKenzie who was tremendous on defense, intercepting two passes and preventing at least two cadet scores.

With three minutes left in the third quarter, Noyes passed to Gerrior on the 10 and Jack Grant sliced over left tackle for the first major. Dave Brown converted.

Steve Oaks ran the ensuing kick-off back 60 yards and was stopped by McKenzie, the last man between Oaks and the goal line. A 14-yard pass from Paul Manson to Art Wade put the cadets in striking distance but McKenzie intercepted a pass on the next play to halt the drive.

Navy went ahead 7-0 in the fourth quarter when Brown kicked a single.

Manson passed to Oaks and the fleet little back went 70 yards before he was pulled down from behind on the 10 by McKenzie. Two cadet passes failed but Manson hit Len Creelman with a scoring pass on the last play of the game. The conversion missed.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Al Baccari's goal at 1:40 in the first period gave Providence Reds a 1-0 American Hockey League victory over Cleveland Barons Sunday night.

... Kinda Small ... Well, Maybe ... Hit That Guy!

A spectator at Saturday's Victoria Junior Canadian Football League game who had more than passing interest in the players was Annis Stukus, coach of the B.C. Lions. Stukus was in Victoria on a goodwill visit but combined business with pleasure, eyeing

Stuke Likes City Grid, But Lions His Real Love

FLEMING, MORRISON RETAIN GOLF BUTTONS

The city senior golf buttons appear to have found permanent owners at last after a year of wandering.
Bob Fleming and Hugh Morrison of Gorge Vale Golf Club, made their third defense in as many weeks Sunday when they defeated Bob Hunt and Warren Williams of Uplands Golf Club, 5 and 3, at Uplands.
Hunt and Williams are two of the top juniors in the city.

Als Trounce Argos, Tie for Big Four Lead

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes came up with a super-charged line and a blue-printed pass defense Sunday to over-see the Argos stopped cold for power Toronto Argonauts 39-11 three quarters. Alouettes rushed and maintained a first-place tie with Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four football league.

Sam Etcheverry, the Alouette rifle man, out-gunned Nobby Wirkowski with four touchdowns heaves. It wasn't until the final quarter, when Argos were far behind, that Nobby all or nothing passes clicked for majors.

Alouettes had a 10-0 lead in the first half, in which Wirkowski was able to connect with the only one of nine passes. Three more touches were rolled up by Alouettes in the third quarter.

QUINN SCORES
Two of Etcheverry's touchdown passes were gathered in by Long John O'Quinn and the others by Joey Pal and Alex Webster.

Another pass, a long heave to Ray Poole, was only two yards short of a major when Poole stepped out of bounds. From there Chuck Hunsinger rammed over the line for a touchdown.

Guard Ed Bradley snapped up Ted Toogood's fumble on a kick and galloped over for another touchdown.

Poole converted all but one of the six touchdowns and added a 29-yard field goal.

Joe Scudero, standout of the Toronto team, took a Wirkowski pass for one Toronto major and Al Bruno counted the other on another forward. End Bob Shaw converted one.

Dutchmen Hold ORFU Lead
By The Canadian Press
KITCHENER—The Waterloo Dutchmen stayed atop the Ontario Rugby Football Union standings during the week-end with a split in a Saturday Sunday doubleheader with Toronto Balmby Beach.

Dutchmen turned two first-half pass interceptions into touchdowns Saturday to defeat Beaches 20-13 before 3,000 at Kitchener. But it was a different story Sunday at Toronto when the Beaches roared to a 31-9 victory to "climb" into a second-place tie with Sarnia Imperials, two points back of the Dutchmen.

Imperials, in a single game at Sarnia, walloped the winless Brantford Redskins 34-6 before a crowd of less than 1,000.

Second-period goals by Eric Nesterenko and Sid Smith gave Leafs their win over Chicago.

The loss before 7,802 fans was Chicago's fifth straight. The Hawks have tied one game.

Jimmy Peters scored the Chicago goal.

Bombers Roar Again; Canucks Play Here

Seattle in Double Win; Stamps Trounce Quakers

Seattle 8, Edmonton 3; Seattle 7, Victoria 2
New Westminster 4, Edmonton 4; Calgary 8, Saskatoon 2

While Seattle Bombers roared to their second-straight one-sided victory in Western Hockey League week-end action, coach Billy Reay of the Cougars was anxiously looking to two newcomers to lead the Cougars back on the victory trail.

Victors over the Cougars 7-2 Saturday, the Bombers Sunday whipped Edmonton Flyers 8-3 to move into fourth place.

It was Edmonton's third loss on the coast, their lone point coming from a 4-1 tie with New Westminster Royals Saturday night.

KUZMA TO PLAY
With Vancouver Canucks in town tonight, Reay plans to use forward Alex Kuzma and, if possible, defenseman Walter Clune. Recently obtained on waivers from Vancouver Canucks, Kuzma has joined the club while word of the arrival of Clune from Montreal is expected sometime today.

Kuzma will likely alternate with Bob Manson on the Eddie Dorohoy-Colin Kilburn unit, coach Billy Reay intimated Sunday. Clune, if he arrives, will occupy a defense berth.

Not too happy with the results of Saturday's 7-2 loss to Seattle Bombers at Seattle, Reay is still seeking to find the answer to his forward line combinations.

"We're working too hard for our goals," he said, "while the other clubs are getting theirs too easy."

Saturday the Cougars had as many chances as the Bombers, but the Bombers had the necessary finish. Meanwhile, Ray Pelletier, outstanding netminder of the Quebec Hockey League last year, spiked the Cougars' best efforts.

GOEGAN GETS PAIR
Flori Goegan, who went to the Bombers for Manson earlier in the week, led the Bombers with two goals.

Goyle Fielder opened the scoring in a first period, actually dominated by the Cougars, by beating Ralph Almas at 3:43. Dave Wall-got the second Seattle marker before the period's end and Doug Macauley and Goegan each scored before Reg Abbott counted Cougars' first marker in the second. Wayne Brown offset Abbott's goal before the period ended to give the Bombers a 5-1 edge.

Barton Bradley and Goegan, with his second, sealed the Cougars' fate in the third. Sam Bettio getting his third goal of the season near the close of the game.

Gene Achymichuk will possibly spill Reay on the second unit between Bettio and Andy Heberton tonight with Abbott centering Bill Simmet and either Kuzma or Manson.

The Canucks, unbeaten in five games, defeated the Cougars 2-1 in the season's opener between the two clubs at Vancouver.

In the other game Saturday, Calgary Stampers won their fourth straight defeating Saskatoon, 8-2.

Both fighters are the same age, 25, and have almost similar records. Turpin is 49-3-1 with 33 knockouts, Olson's 53-5 with 20 kayos.

Figured to be a sellout because New York will be blacked out of a Madison Square Garden fight show for the first time, the bout may draw no more than 16,000 at prices ranging from $3 to $20.

But more than that is the strange training procedure of the moody, one-time country fair fighter. He has boxed only 28 rounds, since he arrived in America a month ago.

SOLOMONS DUBIOUS
Randy, himself, said that he will be in top shape and that too much boxing would make him stale. But Jack Solomon, the British promoter who always has had the big say in Turpin's career, has gone on record as saying he "doesn't approve" of Randy's training methods.

"He hasn't boxed enough," said Solomon. "If it goes 15 rounds, Olson will win."

It could be that the Britons are playing possum. It could be, too, that Randy has been doing some fighting in secret.

Olson, meanwhile, has been training in his usual fashion. He's been boxing regularly and hustling about in the gym. He figures to be in great shape, ready to go a full three minutes every round as he generally does.

Esquimalt Takes City Soccer Lead

Barnes, Constable Each Score Four Goals; Scots Suffer First Loss; Wests Victorious

Esquimalt 6, Canadian Scottish 3
Civil Service 5, Heaneys 4
Victoria West 5, Wood Motors 3

Two sensational individual scoring feats were the big news that came out of a busy week-end in the Victoria and District Football League.

Charlie Constable and Ken Barnes were the authors of the feats, scoring four goals each to lead their teams to high-scoring victories.

Barnes' contribution was the more important of the two as it enabled Esquimalt to defeat Canadian Scottish 6-3, halt the Scots' undefeated streak and move Esquimalt into first place in the league standings.

Constable was the big engineer in Civil Service's 5-4 victory over Heaneys at Athletic Park.

Scottish, who had two victories and a tie prior to Sunday, were far below form and ran up against an Esquimalt club that was quick on the ball and controlled the game throughout.

Barnes scored in the first minute of the game but Rookie Wright tied it in the second minute. Barnes made it 2-1 with a low shot at five minutes and added his third goal at 20 minutes.

Esquimalt went ahead 4-1 through Ed Young's goal at 22 minutes but Wright got his second goal at 34 minutes to cut the lead to 4-2.

After 10 minutes of the second half, Alex Stewart got Esquimalt's fifth goal and Barnes added his fourth and his team's sixth a minute later. Gordy Hobson, on a penalty kick, scored the final Scottish goal 10 minutes from full time.

McMillan Plays

Constable's four goals included the winner in Civil Service's tight victory. The winners were bolstered by the addition of Red McMillan at right full back but were forced to use Fuzz Blair in goal when the regular netminder did not turn up.

Four goals were scored in the space of nine minutes of the first half. Constable headed in a pass from Harold Holroyd at 29 minutes but Heaneys' right halfback Alex Walker tied the score with a high shot from 20 yards out.

Bays Still Unbeaten In City Rugby Loop

James Bay Athletic Association of the Victoria Rugby Union's two-team first division still have an undefeated record and after Saturday they appreciate the fact no little.

The streak almost went up the flue Saturday at Macdonald Park and Oarsmen were forced to battle from behind a 6-3 deficit at the half to gain a 6-6 draw with a hustling Oak Bay Wanderers' squad.

Tommy McIlveen gave Wanderers the needed shot in the arm as he went over the line for an unconverted try after a neat three-quarter line run in the first half.

Fred Martin equalized for James Bay, smashing through four defenders on a 25-yard scoring jaunt. Gary Eynn's convert attempt went wide of the posts.

Wanderers again took the lead when Bruce McTavish slipped over from five yards out after a lineout to give Wanderers their 6-3 lead at the half.

United Blanked by Reds

VANCOUVER—Victoria United, deserving better and also hampered by injuries, Saturday dropped a 3-0 decision to North Shore United and also a chance to take the Coast Soccer League leadership.

Minus regulars Tom Druce and Joe Robbins, both out with injuries, and hit by the injury hex again during the game when Bill McMillan re-injured a troublesome leg and was forced to withdraw, United were better value than the blanketing they took.

Fred Whittaker gave the Shores the only lead they actually needed in the first half when, against the run of the game, he capitalized on a break to beat goalie Bill McAllister easily. Failure of a United defender to successfully control a greasy ball gave Whittaker his chance.

Gordy Ion scored the second marker, heading a cross from Doug Greig into the corner 17 minutes into the second half. Whittaker converted a pass from Ion for the final tally.

The game, played on a muddy field, attracted 1,000 fans.

O.C. BOOKIE LIKES BOBO OVER RANDY

LONDON (AP)—The only London bookie advertising for business on the Bobo Olson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight made Olson a 4-to-6 favorite today.

The bookmaker, Manny King, offered to lay 5 to 4 against Turpin winning the bout in New York Wednesday night.

Stampeders Eliminated In Grid Race

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders' last mathematical chance of catching a Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff berth was wiped out Saturday night as they dropped a 24-18 decision to Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The loss left Stamps with only six points on three victories in 14 starts, six behind the third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers who were walloped 32-9 by Eskimos at Edmonton. Only two games remain to complete the schedule and the best the Stampeders can get is 10 points.

Canadians scored most of the points for both clubs as Saskatchewan battled to a 6-6 tie in the first quarter, went ahead 18-6 at the half, boosted it to 24-6 by the end of the third quarter and weathered a two-touchdown Stampeders rally in the final 15 minutes.

Bill Todd, a halfback Roughriders picked up early this month from the Winnipeg intermediate league, scored two touchdowns. Karl Hilzinger, 20-year-old half from Montreal, and half Sully Glasser, a Regina homebrew, added the other Saskatchewan majors. All were converted by veteran half Del Warden, an import from Montana now classed as a Canadian.

THODOS SCORES

Pete Thodos and Pete Muir, two Vancouver-born halves, counted majors for Stampeders with the other coming from John Henry Johnson, Negro half from Arizona State. All were converted by homebrew half Glen Christian.

Quarterback Frankie Albert, the veteran from the San Francisco 49ers, played a standout game for Stampeders and rallied the club in the fourth quarter with a brilliant passing attack. He threw touchdown passes to Thodos and Muir.

Sub Fleet Wins, Indian Hemp Third

CHICAGO (UP)—Sub Fleet, a four-year-old bay colt, accounted for the biggest purse of his career Saturday as he won the $106,200 Hawthorne Gold Cup and set a new track record in the bargain.

Sub Fleet was clocked in 2:00 3/5 for a mile-and-a-quarter, clipping three-fifths of a second off the old track mark set by Dr. Ole Nelson two years ago.

Indian Hemp, whose fast pace set up the record-breaking performance, faded to third at the wire. Then came Dr. Ole Nelson, the old record-holder; Crafty Admiral, Adams Off Ox and Second Avenue.

Next game: Saturday, Victoria United vs. New Westminster, Royal Athletic Park, 2:30 p.m.

Outstanding for the Victoria team were halfbacks Jack Robbins and Harry Carruthers.

Coach Wally Milligan tried several line-up changes in an unsuccessful attempt to provide scoring punch although United did not waste for opportunities.

Victory gave North Shore undisputed possession of first place, two points ahead of

BOMBERS TROUNCED

Cobra Strikes In Eskimo Win

EDMONTON (CP)—A bargain-basement import and an under-rated Oklahoma quarter aptly nicknamed "The Cobra" starred for Edmonton Eskimos as the runaway first-place finishers humbled the slumping Winnipeg Blue Bombers 32-9 in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game here Saturday night.

The loss dropped Bombers into third place, two points behind Saskatchewan Roughriders, who eliminated Calgary Stampeders from playoff contention with a 24-18 victory at Calgary.

Halfback Rollie Miles, diminutive Negro from a small North Carolina college who came unheralded to Edmonton originally as a tournament baseball player, scored three touchdowns. It was the second time this season he performed the feat in one game, possibly a league record.

Claude Arnold, the Oklahoma Sooner who quarterbacked Edmonton to its first Grey Cup final in 30 years last season, turned in one of his greatest Canadian games.

The 27-year-old quarter produced two touchdowns on Edmonton's first five plays from scrimmage, both coming on his first two passes. That was the

Red Carr Rambles As Clippers Win

The Nanaimo Clippers, newcomers to the Commercial Hockey League neighborhood, have wasted no time making clear their social status to the other residents.

Saturday night at Nanaimo, the home-town Clippers climbed to the top of the league standings by defeating Victoria Merchants, 7-4, before a small crowd of 800.

In their first meeting of the season Wednesday night, Merchants scored in the last two seconds of the game to gain a 3-2 tie with the Johnny-comelately Clippers.

Great goal-tending by tiny Spanky Hodgson was the key factor in Nanaimo's win Saturday night. However, a stout defense aided no little as did a two-goal, two-assist performance by veteran Red Carr.

The clubs were tied 2-2 at the end of the first period. Earl Robinson and Carr tallying for Nanaimo and Joe Evans and Ed Taylor for Merchants.

Ron Bremner gave Victoria a short-lived lead in the second period but Eddie Shamlock, Arnie Duggan and Carr scored in fast order for Nanaimo. Bremner got his second goal with 20 seconds left in the period.

Nanaimo cemented the victory by goals through Joe Zuback and Duggan in the last period while Hodgson, spectacular at times, held the fort.

Wednesday night at Memorial Arena, Merchants meet Navy in the first game of the usual weekly twin bill, with Nanaimo tangling with Victoria V's in the second game at 9.

They will replay the championship game Tuesday night.

GREATER VICTORIA EVENING CLASSES

TAILORING

Mr. John Roelofsen is an expert custom tailor who arrived in Victoria 20 years ago from his native country of Holland. He has spent the last 20 years of his life tailoring in the high-class custom trade.

He has offered to instruct in three classes as indicated below.

The course will consist of tailoring suits and coats from a model or pattern chosen by the student. The proper methods of cutting material, fitting and sewing will be taught. Students will supply their own materials.

Individual care and instruction, we recommend Classes A and B, which will be held in Mr. Roelofsen's Tailoring Shop. For class instruction, with a smaller fee we suggest Class C.

Class A: Mondays, 7.00 to 10.00 p.m.; starting October 19.

Class B: Thursdays, 7.00 to 10.00 p.m.; starting October 22.

Location of Classes A and B: Mr. Roelofsen's Studio, 1011 Government St. Fee for Classes A and B: 12 evenings, $30.00.

Requirements: 4 students in each of Classes A and B.

Class C: Place—S. J. Willis Junior High School, sewing room.

Time: Wednesdays, 7.00 to 10.00 p.m., starting October 21.

Fee: October 21 to March 17, $15.00.

Requirements: 15 students.

ENGLISH 40

Due to popular demand, this matriculation course will be extended, so that those wishing instruction may enroll in a second group being organized for Wednesday evenings at the S. J. Willis Junior High School.

Time: 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

Starting date: Wednesday, October 21, 1953.

CONTEMPORARY ART by JAN ZACH

Mr. Zach is an artist of outstanding ability, whose career has carried him from his native land, Czechoslovakia, to New York, Rio de Janeiro, Banff School of Fine Arts, and now to Victoria.

Mr. Zach has again offered to instruct one class at Night School, and a few openings are still available.

For the beginner, a study of drawing, composition, painting and the necessary technical development will be stressed. For the advanced pupil, the technical development of painting in oil, tempera and water color, and preparation for mural painting and other types of wall painting.

Class will commence Monday, October 19, from 7.00 to 10.00 p.m., in Jan Zach's Studio, 536 Broughton St.

NOTE: To register for any of the above mentioned courses, kindly turn up and enroll on the opening night at the location indicated.

What happens backstage in the life of a public man? Who and what pulls the strings to make him the person others see? That is the theme of the season's opening stage production by the Victoria Theatre Guild. It could be a profound piece but it isn't; for the author has treated it lightly and with considerable wit.

Saturday's fair-sized audience at the Langham Court Theatre apparently found its smart lines and somewhat unusual triangle good entertainment.

The modern, two-level setting made an attractive mount for this ultra-modern play, directed by Theatre Guild veteran, Barbara Smythe. The production went with a fair degree of smoothness, considering the presence of opening night strain. There were moments when the tempo bogged down a little and there was some lack of the sharp edge such sophisticated comedies require.

HIGHLIGHTS SHOW Highlight of the show was performance of Carol MacCormac, who found and maintained right tone and tempo. Her understanding of the part was complete and she played it with a lilt that gave it vitality and charm.

Ken Bostock brought a thorough and intelligent interpretation to the role of an older man. He has strength and authority and an excellent voice to enhance his fine quality of sincerity and a pleasing stage presence.

A competent actor, Don Ross was as usual perfectly at home in a type of part not new to him and which he plays with the same conviction he brought to his performance of the junk dealer in "Born Yesterday." It is a broad, vigorous un-subtle, strongly masculine piece of work.

Phyllis Knight was nervous, but when she settles down will undoubtedly give a steadier and more pleasing performance. Others in the cast gave a good account of themselves.

The theatre is attractive in its new coat of soft, tasteful color and with a newly-designed and painted drop curtain. Altogether the 25th anniversary season opened well. "Affairs of State" will run all this week, commencing at 8.15 each night.

FRESH REPORT BERIA HIDING IN SPAIN

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—

The San Diego Union said Sunday that Spanish national police have established beyond reasonable doubt that a man claiming to be Lavrenti P. Beria, former head of Russia's secret police, is or has recently been in Spain.

It added, in a copyrighted story from its reporter Gene Fuson, that five persons have identified photographs of Beria as the man.

Fuson said Spanish police were preparing a documented report on the matter for him to deliver to Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate's investigating sub-committee.

Rival Guiana Leaders Race To London

GEORGETOWN (CP)—Leaders of the rival pro-British and People's Progressive parties leave here today in a race to present their views in London on the suspension of the colony's constitution.

The British government suspended the constitution and removed Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan from office October 9 because of an alleged plot to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

The deposed premier made plans last week to go to London to protest the action. He announced Sunday that he will leave today with L. F. S. Burnham, former education minister.

United Democratic party leader John Carter, also said Sunday he will leave today for London with W. R. Kendall, another party official.

Carter said recently that he could fill the gap caused by removal of PPP leaders if given 18 months to organize a new government.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Many people in Victoria will be happy to hear the Totem Theatre is not actually up the pole.

Last-minute friends have come through with enough artifacts of the realm to keep the Totem upright, at least for another week.

At this moment, I would like to announce no other person could be nearly as happy as I at the reprieve of the forecast requiem of these excellent people.

The reason being that old devil typographical error caught up with me on Saturday, and turned a kindly farewell to the Totem into a snide remark.

If you will be patient for a few moments, here is the explanation:

Friday's Times contained a headline which read: "TOTEM THEATRE CLOSING DOORS ON SATURDAY."

To which Between Times added the comment "So sorry, freeze."

Unfortunately, an alert proofreader caught the error (SATURDAY) and corrected same before it appeared in this column.

Thus a feeble joke was killed before it could leave the incubator, and I am sure by the time this is published, all my friends at the Totem have decided I am not fit to understudy the understudy of the fourth lead.

Oh, well, at least this gives me the chance to say I'm glad the Totem is still with us, and it is encouraging to note how many citizens have ponied up cash donations so the actors won't have to cure themselves of eating.

But I feel it is only fair to make this statement on behalf of the general citizenry of Victoria:

If the Totem Theatre cannot function on a profitable basis, it will not be for lack of support from press or radio; or from those who are willing to lay out greenbacks to keep the theatre (pronounced the-ah-tuh) with us.

It will be because the Totems do not present the type of entertainment which will attract enough people to support the actors.

Hi, Thor. Hi, Stu. I went thataway.

Always start the week with a gag which is weak: My Favorite Wife says, if there is any doubt in the public's mind about the new liquor act, why not conduct a door-to-door survey?

She says it would be called a "Gin Quiz."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Involved in a collision with a power pole on Johnson near Tye early on the morning of October 5, John De Witt, 314 Roberts Street, was fined $35 in city police court today. He pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. "It was all because of worries over a sick mother," De Witt told Magistrate H. C. Hall. About $125 damage was done to the pole, $600 to his car. The magistrate did not suspend De Witt's license.

Failure to stay at the scene of an accident he was involved in on the night of October 4 resulted in fines totaling $85 being imposed against Hugh B. Pratt, 1824 Quadra, when he appeared in city police court today.

Pratt pleaded guilty to careless driving and another charge of failing to remain at an accident scene. The collision, at Menzies and Superior, was of a minor nature. Magistrate H. C. Hall suspended Pratt's license.

"Canada's Position in the United Nations" will be discussed by Sandham Graves, editor of the Daily Colonist, at this week's Rotary Club luncheon, scheduled Thursday at the Empress Hotel at 12:30.

Ronald Ernest A. Thorne, naval rating, had a short-lived joy-ride in a stolen car on the early morning of October 17.

City policemen caught up with him five minutes after he had taken the car on Esquimalt Road. He pleaded guilty in city police court today to being fined $75, with 10 days to pay it.

INSECTS FRIENDS OR FOES?

B.C. Minister Welcomes Entomologists to Parley

Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, B.C. minister of agriculture, today welcomed 200 entomologists of Canada and the United States to Victoria.

They were at the Empress Hotel for the third annual meeting of the Entomological Society of Canada, held jointly with the 52nd annual meeting of the Entomological Society of British Columbia.

The minister said that the work of the delegates was "important to the well-being of all the people of Canada."

"We have in this country many co-inhabitants (insects)... entomology gives us an opportunity to discover whether they are friends or foes," he said.

The deliberations of both societies which would continue until Wednesday would be of long-term benefit to B.C. and the Dominion of Canada, said Mr. Kiernan.

"They will be studied by myself and by my department with great interest," he added.

Mr. Kiernan was thanked by the national vice-president, Rev. O. Fournier of Montreal, who was presiding in the absence of the president, A. W. Baker of Guelph, Ont., who is ill.

Among other speakers were Melville H. Hatch, professor of zoology, University of Washington, Seattle, and Ian McTaggart-Cowan, professor of zoology, UBC.

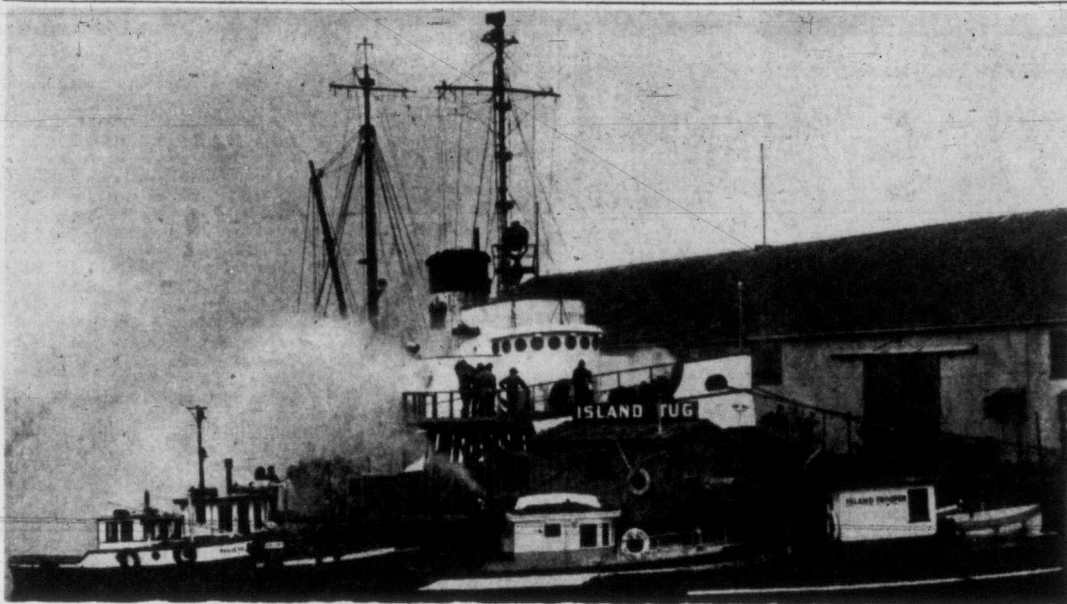

HERE FROM INDIA

One of the delegates is B. K. Rao from Hyderabad, India, who is in Canada on an exchange scheme. He is now working with the Livestock Insect Laboratory, Lethbridge, Alberta.

Present here from the Canadian national body are past-president, W. A. Ross; editor, W. R. Thompson; associate editor, H. H. J. Nesbitt; secretary, R. H. Wignome; treasurer, A. B. Baird; advertising manager, L. A. O. Roadhouse (all of Ottawa).

From the B.C. society are president J. Marshall; vice-president J. H. McLeod; secretary J. D. Gregson; and treasurer C. L. Neilson.

Resolutions committee elected today: chairman Brian Belrine, Ottawa; A. D. Pickett, Kentville, N.S.; K. M. King, Victoria.

Fire-Ravaged Salvage Vessel Sinks in Victoria Harbor

Salvage King, reeking with smoke and burning stores, was surrounded by small tugs as she burned today at Evans Coleman wharf in Inner Harbor. Tugs of Island Tug and Barge pitched in, serviced city firemen's hose lines, stayed with ship until fire danger had subsided and graceful salvage ship had sunk at noon. Officials on hand believe bulkhead collapsed. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

Power Failure Stops Iron Lungs; Precautions Save Five Patients

Precautions in Jubilee Hospital's crowded polio ward saved five lives Friday and Saturday when power failures stopped the artificial breathing of iron lungs.

As soon as the lights went out, and before the life-giving machinery could slow and stop, nurses rushed to switch over lung motors to a gasoline emergency generator situated in the basement.

So prompt were they, so carefully drilled to meet such an emergency that in the words of administrator George Masters, "not a patient missed a breath or had a chance to get excited."

Lights throughout the city dimmed and died first at 10 a.m. Saturday and again at 1 a.m. Sunday.

A minor inconvenience for most citizens, the light that failed could have meant sudden death for helpless patients in the iron lungs.

EMERGENCY ANTICIPATED

But hospital authorities had foreseen the possibility in early August when the current polio outbreak reached its first peak.

Mr. Masters recalls that he phoned a machinery dealer here late one night and outlined the problem.

The dealer, Dave Carey, answered the need promptly. He lent the generator willingly and without encumbrance.

Prior to the arrival of the new unit the hospital had relied on an obsolete ARP two-cycle gas engine hook-up which nurses had to crank to start. Respirator bellows can be operated by hand but the procedure is described as tedious and dangerous.

The new unit starts automatically from a pushbutton in the polio ward.

B.C. Electric Company officials explained the power failures as being the result of dust settling on insulators, becoming dampened by fog and creating a short-circuit. It is not unusual at this time of year, they say.

U.S. Mill Gas Discoloring City Homes?

Pulp mills in the vicinity of Port Townsend were blamed today by Tom Denny, city furniture dealer, for the wandering hydrogen sulphide fumes which are discoloring Beach Drive homes.

A paint expert Saturday said that the fumes were given off by rotting kelp piled up on Oak Beach.

But Mr. Denny, who lives at 1682 Beach and is himself in the zone of complaint, says no.

"For one thing," he said, "the effects were noticed Saturday morning and the wind had shifted to southeast on Friday night. A Port Townsend pulp mill, which gives off fumes of hydrogen sulphide, lies directly in the same bearing as the wind."

BANKRUPTCY VILLAIN FOILED

Generous Citizens' Donations Keep Totem Theatre Solvent

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Victoria wants Totem Theatre.

Citizens in practically every walk of life have proved conclusively, once roused to the possibility of loss, that they are willing to go to considerable lengths to keep the vital young theatre company in this city.

All during the week-end, material help and promises of help were pouring in. Cash donations in varying amounts, including $500 from a local doctor, brightened the picture.

"Hampers of groceries were sent by a store and rent-free accommodation for two months was promised by the proprietor of the city auto courts where most members of the company have been living."

Phone calls informed them, in several cases, that bills had been canceled and deliveries of necessary commodities would be on schedule.

"Nowhere could we find warmer hearted people," said Thor. Arngren. "Their wonderful friendship and interest have brought tears to our eyes more than once."

Stuart Baker, other half of the production team, said Sunday night: "The whole company is unanimous in wanting to stay if at all possible. We know now that we can at least keep going for another month."

All day Sunday and far into the small hours of Monday morning members of the company were working, putting finishing touches to the set of "Castles in the Air"—the play they thought would never open in Victoria.

"Tonight, enthusiastic theatre patrons will have the opportunity to see this bright new comedy hit, set among the Highlands of Scotland in a draughty old monster of a castle."

Scheduled next on the list is "The Moon Is Blue," one of the funniest plays of the century. A fine repertoire lies in wait, but its showing will depend entirely on the continued attendance support at the Government Street theatre.

Saturday night's audience of well over 500 nearly filled the house and the reception given the last performance of "Antigone" was a revelation of what Victoria thinks of living theatre.

Motorist Drove Without License For Three Years

Young motorist Garry Walton of B.C. Forest Products confessed to Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today that he had been driving a car illegally for three years.

He pleaded guilty to driving a car without a license since he was 17. He is now 20. His fine was $35.

"And if this happens again the penalty will be more severe," Magistrate Hall warned.

RCMP Officer Promoted

Inspector J. R. W. Bordeleau, 44, of Hull, Que., commanding RCMP criminal investigation branch in British Columbia, and stationed at Victoria headquarters—has been promoted to the rank of acting superintendent, RCMP headquarters at Ottawa reported today.

Mr. Bordeleau was stationed at Montreal prior to his transfer here. He has been with the national police force for over 20 years and was commissioned in 1944.

FIRST FULL GRAIN CARGO U.K.-BOUND

Ss. Hope Range was scheduled to sail from Ogden Point late this afternoon for U.K. with 9,000 tons of Canadian wheat.

It is the first full cargo for Britain since the grain elevator was re-activated by Victoria Elevators.

Ss. Cheos is expected Wednesday, to take 3,000 tons, also for U.K. Cheos will also load lumber here and at other Vancouver Island ports.

Intimidation Charge Against RCN Rating

Roland J. Chouinard, naval rating, was remanded to Thursday afternoon when he was charged at a special session of Saanich police court today with intimidation.

Saanich police said the charge concerned the "brandishing" of a weapon that looked like a pistol.

"But I didn't use any violence," Chouinard told Magistrate H. C. Hall. The magistrate took that as a plea of not guilty.

Found Dead in Island River

Twenty-two-year-old Jack Green, whose body was found today in T'Sable River, near Union Bay, was best-known here as pictured above, as goalie for Vancouver Pilseners lacrosse team. Green became separated from hunting party Saturday. (See story, Page 1.)

Fourth Saanich Traffic Death Saturday Night

Woman Hurl'd Forty Feet; Charge May Follow Coroner's Probe

Miss Laurada Jones, middle-aged clerk in the T. Eaton Company store here, was killed almost instantly Saturday night when struck by a car on Gorge Road. Police say the woman was hurled nearly 40 feet.

Scene of the accident was near the home of the victim, suite 2, 31 Gorge Road. She was carrying her pet dachshund in her arms when she was struck. Police say the driver of a panel delivery truck which struck Miss Jones was Frank Lane, of 160 Gorge Road East. He and a passenger, Edward Nicholson, HMCS Naden, are in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Saanich prosecutor Lloyd G. McKenzie said today the decision whether or not to lay a charge in the case would depend upon evidence given a coroner's inquest, date of which has not been set.

Lane, the hospital reports, has lacerations to the face and scalp. His condition is reported good.

Nicholson suffered a broken leg and his condition is more serious.

TOTAL NOW NINE

Miss Jones is the fourth traffic fatality in Saanich this year. Her death brings to nine the total in the Greater Victoria area in 1953.

Police are trying to trace next-of-kin. Miss Jones had no relatives here as far as can be ascertained.

Sgt. Jack Hamilton, Saanich police, said Miss Jones was crossing the road at 71 Gorge East after buying groceries from a store.

After the impact, the car carried on and crashed into a BCE Company pole. The pole snapped in the centre, but the overhead wires kept the upper part from dropping to the roadway.

Victoria to See Formosan Film

A motion picture in sound and color, made in the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa, will be shown in Centra Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The picture was directed by Dick Hillis, former Victoria man who is director of Orient Crusades, a mission group working in Formosa, Okinawa, the Philippines and Korea.

The film contains scenes of Formosa headquarters, and action shots of Chiang Kai-shek's forces. A unique feature is a sequence showing "basketball evangelism" in the Orient.

Rev. Russ Killman, representative of the Orient Crusades, will give a first-hand report on conditions in Asia. A collection will be taken to aid the work.

Two Again Remanded On Beating Charge

A man and a woman charged with beating an elderly Chinese with intent to rob him last week, were further remanded to Thursday today by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

Charged with assaulting Bong Ging, 74, of 468 Garbally, are Constance Hilda Wright, 42, of 1827 Quadra, and Zevojin Jovanovic, 25, recent immigrant from Yugoslavia.

Magistrate Hall ordered the remand when the immigrant explained he did not understand all the charge that was read to him. An interpreter will be secured for the remand date.

Arthur Brethour appeared as counsel for both accused.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—There was a steamer Otter in the early days in these waters. Where was she built?

A.—Built in England, she arrived on this coast in 1853 and served in the Vancouver Island coal export trade. In 1890 she was burned for her copper fastenings.

Q.—Caddy does not seem ever to have been photographed. Did a hunter ever get a shot at him?

A.—No hunter reported a brush, but a telegraph line-man working between Jordan River and Port Renfrew said in Oct., 1933, he had sighted a monster 200 yards off shore and, quickly getting his 30.30 rifle, shot for its head. He said he believed he had hit it the neck, as it thrashed about, put its head 15 feet out of water and swam away.

Q.—Can the volume or tone of sound cause material damage?

A.—A man versed in physics informs the Times a fragile object, as of glass, might be shattered by a very violent sound as a result of resonance.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

POLIO TOTAL REACHES 104

Three new cases of polio were admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital over the weekend.

A four-year-old Sooke girl, a 16-month baby from Sidney and a woman from Sidney all were afflicted. The first two on Saturday, the woman on Sunday.

The new cases brought to 104 the total to date for Vancouver Island.

Dribbleproof Baby Tumbler Saves Mother Time, Effort

By PENNY SAVER

Baby lives it... so does mother! I mean the new spill-proof and dribbleproof baby tumbler that has become such a boon to mothers of young children. Lid of the plastic tumbler has a spout from which the baby drinks without dribbling because the child completely encloses spout in his mouth. Sanitary, too, for if rolled on the floor, the spout will not touch. The tumbler can be sterilized and washed in hot water, but you are advised not to boil it. For 45 pennies it's yours!

It's not hard to tell that Halloween is just around the corner, is it, kids? Gosh, wherever you look you can see pumpkins, masks and everything needed to make the gala date a success! Lots of folks like to put a jack-o-lantern in their front window on that night, but carving the old pumpkin is quite a job... so this year some are buying one of those pumpkin candles to take its place. Candles are the size of a small pumpkin, and with their funny, laughing faces, will light up your window just as well as the real thing! Price is $1.55 each.

Dress up the little man in one of these boys' sports shirts in blue or brown checks with a detachable bow tie. Perkiest little bow you ever did see, and Johnny will be able to tell his friends that he's got a tie "just like daddy's." In all sizes, the shirts are made of fine-quality sanforized broadcloth.

Keeping to the subject of boys' sports shirts, I want to tell you about the cowboy style in plain and plaid flannel with a white fringe. They are complete with gun! Price each, $2.98.

WHY GROW OLD?

Young Girls — Scrub Faces Stand Erect and Be Natural

I am receiving an increasing number of letters from girls 11 different girls. If your girl and 12 and 13 years old. There friend has some bust and you fore I am giving one column to their special problems.

Skin care is of greatest importance at this age. This is the time when the oil glands in your face become extremely active. When this happens, unless you give your skin special care you may find yourself a year or so hence with a crop of blackheads or with pimples. Preventive medicine should be used.

The girl of this age should wash her face several times a day (three or four) with soap and water even if she has no blackheads at the present time. This removes the excess oil and dirt and will, in most cases, keep these little pests away.

The young girl should keep her hands off her face. Many a sad young woman of 14 or 15 has a set of pimples brought on herself by squeezing and picking at her skin. Also be careful about your wash cloths. Use clean ones only.

As I have said, this is a time when you should use preventive measures in order to avoid some of the usual teenage handicaps. Now is the time when you can most easily improve your posture, and believe me, this will have a big effect on how attractive you look later on.

You cannot wear clothes well or look glamorous unless you carry yourself with grace. So watch your posture! Try to hold yourself correctly in daily life and if you are round shouldered correct that now. Do not slump into chairs or at your desks.

This is a hard time so far as clothes are concerned. There is a time here when clothes in your sizes look too babyfied for you. Hold on for a little while and do the best you can. Do not be concerned because you are thick through the waist and have little bust. The bustline

Announce Wedding Date

The engagement is announced of Helen Margaret McCaughey, only daughter of Mrs. Max Stanbridge and the late Mr. W. M. McCaughey, to Edward William Parker, son of Mrs. Edward Sidney Parker of Toronto, and the late Mr. Parker. St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, has been chosen for the wedding, which will take place Nov. 13 at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Douglas Kendall will officiate. Attending the bride as matron of honor will be Mrs. John Fisher, and bridesmatron will be Mrs. Derrick White. Dorothy Elizabeth Anderson, cousin of the bride-elect, has been asked to be junior bridesmaid, and Mary Louise Townsend, flower girl. The groom-elect will have Vincent Townsend as best man, and ushers will be John McCaughey, brother of the bride, and Jack Wormald. (Photo by Campbell Studio.)

TODAY'S RECIPE

Vegetable-Cheese Loaf (serves 6-8): To ½ cup boiling water add ¼ cup butter or margarine and 1 package frozen mixed vegetables. Return to boil. Cook gently until no water remains. Or else use 1½ cups leftover mixed vegetables. Combine cooked vegetables with ½ cup cooked macaroni, 1 cup cream, 4 beaten eggs, 1 cup cubed sharp cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 pimiento chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Pour into greased baking dish lined with heavy waxed bread wrapper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 45 minutes or until firm but not dry. Turn onto serving platter and serve with hot tomato sauce.

Arthur Laing, British Columbia Liberal leader was guest speaker at meeting of Liberal Women's Forum recently. He gave a comprehensive report on the work of the present sitting of the British Columbia Legislature and also spoke of the economic situation in Canada and the United States. Yesterday's aims and objects were discussed and a pattern for future building presented by Mr. Laing.

Mrs. T. C. Smith presided and two new members were received, Mrs. D. A. MacDonald and Mrs. D. K. Overton. Mrs. J. Slater was appointed convener of whist drives. Announcement was made that Mrs. Smith will represent the Forum and the Women's B.C. Association at national federation meeting in Ottawa in November. Ward Five were in charge of refreshments with Mrs. J. Gough and Mrs. J. J. Beckett presiding at the urns.

The short, or dress, length is the one most in demand now for negligee and robes. Women of all ages, from teenagers to grandmothers, like this length and wear it.

If you have name-tapes for the children's clothes; glue a couple in their rubbers and over-shoes, too, to save ownership arguments.

Entertained at Oak Bay Hotel

A coffee party, followed by a luncheon at Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Sunday, marked a meeting of International Toastmistress, Canadian Council No. 1 of the Northwest Region. Mrs. Audrey Thompson, council president, was hostess and welcomed guests, including many from out of town.

Attending from Vancouver, were Mrs. Lola Leach, Mrs. G. Young, Mrs. C. Read, Miss S. Young; from Comox, Mrs. R. Elliot, Mrs. S. Bryans, Mrs. E. Cliff and Mrs. F. Carswell. Miss E. Double-Ring Ceremony In St. Aidan's United

A double-ring ceremony in St. Aidan's United Church, Saturday evening, united Elsie Dunbar McPherson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. F. McPherson, 1750 Ruby Road, Gordon Head, with Victor Arnold Jones, only son of Mr. W. V. Jones, Camrose Apartments, Bay Street, and the late Mrs. Jones. Rev. T. G. Griffiths performed the ceremony, amid a setting of white, mauve and bronze chrysanthemums. Wedding music was played by Miss M. Vaughan, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Marjorie Sturgeon sang "Because." Guests were shown to pews marked with white heather by Mr. Dick Marks and Mr. Roy Lawrence.

Coming down the aisle on her father's arm, the bride was charming in a white satin gown, the strapless bodice covered with imported lace and the circular skirt falling to floor-length. She wore a matching lace bolero with stand-up collar and lily-point sleeves, and a coronet of hyacinths held her embroidered nylon three-quarter veil. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Shirley Marks was matron of honor, in a floor-length strapless gown of shrimp pink nylon net over tulle with matching lace bolero and nylon tulle coronet. Her crescent bouquet was of pale pink carnations.

The groom had Mr. Don Munro as best man.

At the reception in Terry's Rose Room, guests were welcomed by the bride's mother, wearing a rosewood crepe and lace dress, navy blue accessories, and yellow rose corsage, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. T. F. Jones, who chose a grey crepe afternoon dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Clough Wed at St. Michael's in Fall Setting

St. Michael's Church was decorated with arrangements of white and yellow chrysanthemums Saturday evening for the wedding ceremony which united Joyce Elizabeth McIntyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntyre, Royal Oak, with Robert Henry Clough, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clough, 3171 Albina Street. Rev. N. J. Godkin officiated and "Because" was played on the organ during the signing of the register.

Archdeacon Nunns Unites Couple at St. Mary's Church

Autumn flowers formed the setting for the wedding of Carol Louise Borde to Louis P. Impey, Saturday evening in St. Mary's Church. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Borde, 60 Painter Road, Colwood, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Impey, 1748 Davie Street. James Gerry provided organ music.

Mr. Borde gave his daughter in marriage. The titian-haired bride wore a tailored suit of moss green flecked with brown. Winter beige and copper were the shades of her accessories and she had a corsage of pale yellow roses and white heather.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Arlene Borde, who wore a greyed teal suit with hat in a deeper tone. Blush-pink roses formed her corsage. Bud Collette was best man. Connaught Seaman's Institute provided organ music.

Glenna Pipes Becomes Bride In Ceremony at Metropolitan

Imported Chantilly lace and pleated net over satin formed the bridal gown of Glenna Pipes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. H. Pipes, 2439 Lincoln Road, when she repeated wedding vows Saturday evening with Mervin Karst, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Karst, 2023 Carnarvon Street, in Metropolitan United Church. The yoke of her gown was embroidered with mother of pearl and seed pearls, and she wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion net which filtered from a headress of pleated net. She carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Many Veterans Visited in Month

Three hundred and twenty-six patients were visited in hospital during the month, it was reported at meeting of Ladies' Auxiliary, Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., by Mrs. A. C. Craib.

President Mrs. H. F. Jarvis announced 300 patients were visited in all hospitals on Hospital Legion Day, and Mrs. B. Waite reported seven auxiliary members visited.

Mrs. M. Derbyshire was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. F. McGibbon, Kaslo, B.C., as a visitor.

Reports of provincial executive, district council and co-ordinating council meetings were given by Mrs. D. McCulloch, Mrs. G. Ree and Mrs. J. Wren.

Mrs. E. Swan and Mrs. Ree were named delegates to the next district council meeting in Nanaimo on Oct. 30.

Mrs. A. Jones was named to convene carpet bowling, every Monday and Wednesday, and Mrs. L. Kendrew, the dressing and bandages at Veterans' Hospital, every second and fourth Wednesday. Mrs. E. Glass will handle the British food parcel this month.

Plan Convention—At a business meeting of the Altruism Club, held at the home of Mrs. Avis Walton, 1780 Mayfair Drive, tentative plans for the 10th district convention to be held in the Empress Hotel in May, were made. Miss Mona Jewell was elected recording secretary. Next meeting of the club will be the birthday dinner.

stephanotis and Ivy. Mr. Pipes gave his daughter in marriage. Dr. F. E. H. James officiated and organ music was provided by Charles Palmer. The church was decorated with standard baskets of chrysanthemums in fall tones.

Attendants were Miss Mona Hopkins, Vancouver, and Miss Marilyn Pipes, sister of the bride, who wore identical gowns in gold and olive green respectively. The gowns were styled with scalloped necklines and over-drape skirts of corded taffeta over accordion-pleated net. They carried colonial bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Jack Pipes was best man and ushers were William Pipes, brother of the bride, and Ronald Corbett.

Reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lundy, bride's cousins, 1605 Wilmot Place, where mothers of the couple received guests. Mrs. Pipes wearing a dress of sans souci lace with corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Karst, wearing a rose beige lace dress with corsage of tea roses. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bridal table, which was covered with a hand-crocheted cloth. "C. Lundy" proposed the toast.

For motoring on honeymoon to California, the bride chose a coat dress of dusty rose wool crepe with matching hat. She wore dark brown suede accessories and corsage of brown tiger orchids. Her topcoat was brown muskrat.

Mr. and Mrs. Karst will live at No. 1, 2624 Quadra Street.

Executive Position For Victoria Woman

At a council meeting of the International Hotel Association held recently in Dusseldorf, Germany, two women, Mrs. Norma MacDonald of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, and Countess Harriet Waldendorff of Salzburg, Austria, were appointed to the executive committee.

This body consists of one member from each of the 15 countries active in the International Hotel Association and it is the first time that women have been included on the committee which meets in Paris in February of each year.

Mrs. MacDonald has attended many of the International Congresses and last year was appointed by the Canadian Hotel Association as their international representative.

EX-YORK GROUP MAY RETURN TO VICTORIA DURING TOUR

The Lancaster Players may return to Victoria during the coming winter to present stage shows here.

The company, which was formed last spring when the original York Company broke up, has played this summer in Penticton as the Theatre by Starlight.

James Testamale, producer for the Lancaster Company, has announced the troupe will begin shortly a tour of British Columbia schools, staging Shakespeare's "Macbeth." The company will tour Vancouver Island during November.

Featured in the cast will be Ian Thorne, as Macbeth; Monica Dudley, Wally Marsh, Doug Kaskins and Patricia Marsh. Ian Dobbie is scheduled to join the company later in the season.

Oceanographer to Talk On Pacific Experience

R. L. Fjarlie of the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, will speak on "Oceanographic Methods and Instrumentation" at a joint meeting of the Vancouver Island branches of B.C. Engineering Society and the Engineering Institute of Canada at the Douglas Building cafeteria on Friday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Fjarlie, while associated with the Pacific Oceanographic Group at Nanaimo, carried out extensive investigations of seaweed disposal in Burrard Inlet and the Fraser delta for the city of Vancouver.

At his talk on Friday night he will discuss the principles of oceanography using the Vancouver problem as an example.

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad said in a broadcast Sunday NATO's European command has more than doubled its vital air fleets in the last two and one-half years but still needs more planes.

King's Jump and Jive Types Just Play for the Kicks

BY DENNY BOYD
Seventeen local musicians, all with the urge to escape the conventional and create the original, will get just that chance Tuesday night at 8.30 in the Victoria Ballroom.

Gordon King and his 16-piece Victoria All-Star Orchestra, will present the first in a series of monthly big band jazz concerts.

Under King's baton, the orchestra will romp through new arrangements of traditional jazz classics and several original numbers penned by the leader.

The orchestra brings together the top sidemen of all the best dance orchestras in town and affords them the opportunity of playing the type of music seldom heard from conventional dance bands.

Professional musicians, to use their own terms, either play for "gold" (dance orchestras) or for "kicks" (jazz orchestras).

Tuesday's concert will be the "kick" variety, played to a seated audience.

The concert is non-profit, receipts going for expenses and the necessary union scale for the musicians. The musicians' union has co-operated by lowering the scale to bare minimum.

Five concerts were presented last year and were highly successful from a standpoint of entertainment but something less than successful financially.

Appearing with the orchestra will be "The Oakes," girls' vocal quintet, who will sing ballads arranged by King.

The trombone section is composed of Bill Fry, Don Beale and Ian MacDougall. Trumpets are John Collins (lead), Jimmy Burrell, Ernie Cairns and Don Clark who, at 14, is the "baby" of the band.

Members of the saxophone section are Bill Johnson, Gordon Dickie, Vern Bryant, Bill Heybrook and Jack Cosier.

The rhythm section consists of Ray Petch, piano; Mike Pretty, drums; Doug Peaker, bass, and George Foxcroft, vibraphones.

Penticton Boy Accidentally Shot by Chum

PENTICTON (CP)—Fourteen-year-old Billy Peterson of Penticton was killed Saturday in a hunting mishap near here.

He was fatally shot while hunting with two youthful companions three miles east of the city.

His companions, one 14 and the other 15, were following Peterson on a hilly trail when a gun being carried by one of the boys accidentally discharged, hitting Peterson in the back.

The boy was the son of Carl Peterson, a city garage owner. An inquest will be held.

Kitimat Aluminum Smelter Nearly Ready

Aerial photo of Alcan's Kitimat smelter, 500 miles north of Vancouver, shows six 1,000-foot structures housing 342 aluminum smelting pots. Service buildings, including a seven-story structure, are at their left. Area for six more potline buildings has been cleared immediately to the left. Smelter eventually will extend for two and a half miles. Massive ocean dock now is taking shape at right-rear of smelter.

Seven miles away, on Kitimat town-site (off photo, to left), start has been made on constructing city to house smelter's 900 workmen and families. Foundation forms have been laid for first 80 houses which, it is expected, will be bought by occupants. Million-dollar steel bridge and 24-foot paved roadway connect Kitimat-Smelter at Kitimat townsite.

Teachers Would Revamp Social Study Course

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—An investigation and possible revamping of British Columbia's school curriculum was asked at the week-end by delegates to the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association convention. Chief complaint was registered over what the association termed "the abnormal number of failures in the Social Studies 30 examinations of June and August, this year."

The convention asked, in addition to an explanation from the education department, an investigation of the course "and if it is found too long, that it be reorganized to better fit into the school year."

NEW TEXT

In another resolution, delegates asked that the courses Mathematics 7, 8 and 10 be replaced by a new text "as there is too much unessential material included and insufficient drill on essential materials."

Criticized by the teachers was the government's abolishing of the education department periodical "B.C. Schools," which the teachers claim was their only communication with the department.

U.S. Foreign Aid Record $7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big jump in military assistance to the free world pushed United States foreign aid—including loans and grants—to a record $7,000,000,000 in the 12 months ended last June 30.

The commerce department, reporting this Sunday, said countries getting help made return grants to the United States, or loan repayments, amounting to about 10 per cent of the United States' aid.

Arson Suspected in Big U.S. Army Fire

OAKLAND (UP)—Fire Marshal James Sweeney Jr., said today a $12,000,000 fire which destroyed a warehouse crammed with army supplies for Korea and a nearby marine works may have been started by an arsonist.

"We have every reason to believe it could have been incendiary," Sweeney said.

The fire broke out shortly after 8 p.m. Friday and raged for three hours.

Russian Leads Chess Tourney

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Vassily Smyslov of Russia Sunday drew with Svetozar Gligoric of Yugoslavia in the 27th round of the elimination tournament to pick a challenger for the world chess championship and increased his lead over Samuel Reshevsky of the United States to two points.

Hornets Win

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Danny Lewicki's second break-away goal of the night, with his team short-handed in each case, gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 3-4 overtime victory over Buffalo Bisons in an American Hockey League game Sunday night.

SHIP SAVED

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Firemen Saturday pumped water from the holds of the 6,761-ton American freighter James Lykes and appeared to have won a two-day battle to save the ship. The blaze broke out in the ship about 100 miles from Liverpool Thursday. Fire boats rushed out to sea and escorted her into harbor, where

Fake GI Claims Costing U.S. $18 Million a Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army disclosed Saturday that illegal dependency allowance claims by GIs are costing the government an estimated $18,000,000 a year.

It said an army-wide crackdown is planned. Soldiers who filed false claims and dependents who received them illegally will be prosecuted by proper military and civil courts.

A preliminary six-month investigation, among U.S. troops in Puerto Rico and in limited portions of the continental United States, already has exposed frauds "in excess of $1,000,000" a year, the army said.

"Even greater sums are expected to be saved as indications of non-entitlement are studied further," the army asserted.

Holly Growers Ride On Study Cavalcade

Vancouver Island holly growers in a cavalcade of 19 cars toured orchards of this district with Dominion and provincial agriculturists Saturday exchanging information on experiment and development.

Members paused for lunch at the farmers' pavilion of the Experimental Station and welcomed R. P. Murray, newly-named provincial horticulturist.

J. J. Woods, station superintendent, spoke briefly on the necessity for uniformity and attractiveness in packaging of holly shipments.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

College Education For Mig Pilot

WASHINGTON (UP)—The young North Korean pilot who flew a Russian Mig jet fighter into United Nations territory will use part of his $100,000 reward to attend an American college, it was learned today.

An air force official said the pilot, 22-year-old Noh Keun Suk, has expressed a desire to study engineering in the United States. The school he will attend has not yet been selected.

Czech Plants Reported Producing Poison Gas

VIENNA (Reuters)—A Czech technician who recently escaped to Austria has told Western authorities that Czechoslovakia is producing poison gas for chemical warfare. He said several chemical factories which made poison gas under German wartime occupation now are working full blast again. At least one, he said, is producing mustard gas.

Airliner Lands Without Wheels

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A twin-engined Trans-World Airlines plane, carrying 15 passengers and a crew of five, was brought to a safe belly landing by a cool-headed pilot Saturday after its landing gear collapsed. The plane, coming in from New York on its way to Chicago, skidded more than 400 yards on a runway at International Airport, but Capt. E. A. Davis, 36, kept it under control.

G-E WHITE BULBS allow you to read—sew—study all evening without eye discomfort

Prove it to yourself with this 3 lamp test

1 Put in a G-E White Bulb wherever dad likes to read his evening paper. His eyes will be more relaxed because of the White Bulb's extra light and softly-diffused, all-over glow.

2 Mother will be sure to approve these clean, bright White Bulbs. Her "close" work calls for the fine lighting that White Bulbs provide. Diffused light from the entire bulb surface eliminates annoying shadows.

3 Studies by health authorities have shown that children actually study faster when their eyes are protected from glare and shadows by abundant softly-diffused light, so try G-E White Bulbs for study lighting.

G-E White Bulbs are the finest incandescent lamp bulbs developed since the first inside-frosted bulbs in 1927. Thousands of Canadians have already discovered how the White Bulb's remarkable inside-coating distributes the light evenly from every part of the bulb's surface ... does away with distracting "bright spots" of ordinary bulbs ... eliminates bothersome shadows. The White Bulb actually provides more light than ordinary inside-frosted bulbs.

Tonight, put 3 White Bulbs wherever your family like to read or work. Dad will enjoy relaxing, shadow-free light by his favourite chair ... mother will be able to read or sew with a light that's far more restful ... children will find studying much easier. In fact, the whole family will "see with their own eyes" how much extra comfort these inexpensive G-E White Bulbs will give. They'll want White Bulbs throughout the house. Try the 3-Lamp test tonight, treat your family's eyes to the finer light of new G-E White Bulbs. Available in 60, 100 watt and Tri-Lite sizes.

IF POSSIBLE, BRUSH AFTER MEALS. IF NOT—

Here's a toothpaste for people who can't brush after every meal

Just one brushing with Pepsodent removes up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay

Pepsodent gives you whitest teeth, sweetest breath

Note—It's best, of course, to brush after every meal, but if you can't, remember this—Just one brushing with Pepsodent removes up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay.

It's a fact, proved by impartial laboratory tests. Pepsodent gives you whitest teeth because Pepsodent gets teeth cleaner and brighter than any other leading toothpaste.

Now here's a fact especially important to people who can't brush their teeth after every meal. Pepsodent's cleansing action is so effective that just one brushing removes up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay!

WHITEST TEETH • SWEETEST BREATH • BOTH ARE YOURS WITH PEPSODENT

Tank to Aid Victims of Crippling Diseases

Examining new hydrotherapy tank for arthritis victims are Mrs. E. C. Carson, Dr. G. F. Amyot, and Sister Mary Angelus, Sister Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital. (Times Photo.)

Hydrotherapy Unit Dedicated To Memory of Hon. 'Ernie' Carson

A new hydrotherapy unit for the treatment of arthritis and other crippling diseases was dedicated at a special ceremony at St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday to the memory of the late Hon. E. C. Carson, former minister of public works for B.C., who died in October, 1952.

Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health, made the dedication on behalf of the local branch of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

The unit, a big stainless steel tank, was constructed by the welding class of the F. T. Fairley Technical School.

Dr. Amyot described the presentation as a "wonderful demonstration of Christianity."

"It is a demonstration of what can be done by people who are interested in helping their neighbors who are less fortunate than themselves," he said.

POINTS GREAT NEED
F. A. White, president of the local branch of C.A.R.S., said there was great need for the unit. It would be used by arthritic and post-polio patients and victims of other crippling diseases, he said.

Mr. White said the women's auxiliary had raised the funds for the tank during the past year largely through a Christmas pantomime, rummage sales and teas.

Over 100 persons attended the dedication ceremony.

Speakers included Brenton S. Brown, vice-president of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society; Mrs. C. L. Aylard and Mrs. Gordon Cameron, vice-presidents of the local auxiliary.

Treasurer is Bill Hobbs, Pat Tyrrell is secretary and Carl Mackie is chaplain. Trustees are W. Erickson, S. Fevang and K. McConnell.

A radiant healthy skin in just 15 minutes

DUSTY streets... stuffy trains... long, tiring hours in kitchen or office—these, like many other conditions of modern life, all take it out of your skin. Blemishes—blackheads, dryness, pastiness—are often the result. Covering them up with cosmetics is not enough—you want to get rid of them!

New Effective Treatment

The new Lanoline Face Pack made by Christy's works wonders in just 15 minutes. A deep-penetrating cream, made with nourishing Lanoline, it contains a blend of absorbents and fine oils which quickly dissolve and ease away blemish-causing impurities—gently and safely.

Quick and Easy to Use

This wonderful new Lanoline Face Pack comes ready to apply. Just take the cream from its air-tight envelope, pat it over your face and throat, wash off with cold water 15 minutes later. Your skin will immediately feel toned-up and supple, look far clearer and fresher. Treat your skin to glowing health by using Christy's Lanoline Face Pack at least once a week—only 35c or 3 for $1.00 at any drug store.

Suitable for all skin types, this marvellous new remedial treatment—Christy's Lanoline Face Pack—is specially prepared to combat unhealthy skin troubles, including acne, flaking and scaling due to dryness, and oily skin defects and impurities like blackheads, blemishes and clogged pores.

2 Die; 25 Escape When Airliner Dives in Flames

NEW YORK (UP) — A commercial airliner caught fire while taking off for Puerto Rico today and crashed through swirling fog into marshy ground near the runway at International Airport.

Two passengers burned to death. One was dead when pulled from the plane; the other, wrapped in flames, staggered out and lay burning under the tail assembly.

Fifteen of the 27 persons aboard the Eastern Airlines Constellation were being treated in hospitals for burns. Five of them were in critical condition.

Among those less seriously burned were the purser and stewardess, who helped most of the passengers to a quick escape through a rear door after the crash. Some of the passengers were hurled clear of the fuselage. Others scrambled out and rolled in agony on the soggy ground in an effort to put out the flames in their clothing.

The dead were George Fisher, 39, of West Hartford, Conn., and Dr. Juan Bajandas of Puerto Rico.

The four-engine plane crashed only seconds after leaving the ground. Only one passenger escaped completely unhurt.

It was the first fatal crash at the New York International Airport, the mammoth field on Jamaica Bay in Queen's Borough which handles all the city's international flights and some domestic flights.

'Hello' Says Percy 'Good-By' Says City

Victoria MLA Finds No Job Waiting
When He Returns From Legislature

Percy Wright, Victoria Social Credit MLA, tried to get his job as assistant city clerk back today, but failed.

Mr. Wright, who left his job five weeks ago to carry out his duties in the Legislature—after city council had refused his request for leave of absence—reported to city hall sharp at 8:30 a.m., the normal starting time.

He walked into the city clerk's office, and announced: "Good morning, I'm back."

He then had a 15-minute private chat with City Clerk M. Frank Hunter.

When he came out, he said he had been told by Mr. Hunter he would have to see City Manager Cecil Wyatt since the matter was solely in his hands.

His meeting with Mr. Wyatt took less than two minutes.

"I saw Mr. Wyatt and told him the session had ended and that I was back. I asked him if my job was still open. He said no, and said he felt his letter covered the subject so that no further explanation was necessary," Mr. Wright revealed.

RETIRED VOLUNTARILY

This letter, written by Mr. Wyatt on October 5, set forth the city's attitude:

"It has been concluded that you have elected to follow a provincial career and in so doing have voluntarily retired from the services of the Corporation of the City of Victoria."

Mr. Wright answered this letter October 8 by repeating his application for leave of absence without pay for the duration of the session "which I am attending by command."

Pilsener Goalie Jack Green Found Drowned

Wide Island Hunt
Ends This Morning

Jack W. Green, widely known here as goalie with the Vancouver Pilseners senior lacrosse team, was found drowned early this morning in T'Sable River, near Union Bay, south of Courtenay.

Green, 22, of Vancouver, had been the object of a widespread search since Sunday. He was reported missing Saturday after he became separated from a hunting party.

Discovery of his body was made by civilian searchers covering the area near Canadian Collieries T'Sable River mine, near the confluence of the T'Sable and Beaufort Creek. One of the searchers advanced the theory that Green might have stumbled in the dark, and fallen down a steep embankment into the river.

Green played senior lacrosse for five years.

He starred with Vancouver Burrards in 1949 when that team won the Mann Cup. He played in Mann Cup finals again in 1951 and 1952 with Vancouver Pilseners, and played with Pilseners this season.

Close to 150 district residents took part in Sunday's search. An RCMP dog was used in the hunt.

Early today the RCAF was preparing to enter the search. A ground party, equipped with walkie-talkies, got as far as Nanaimo, and a helicopter was to be pushed into service as well.

5-Hour Fight Futile

The proud Salvage King, star of many a sea rescue, today was claimed by deep water of the Inner Harbor after a disastrous fire that broke out in her forecabin at 7:30 a.m.

Firemen and Island Tug and Barge crews fought vainly for almost five hours to reach the stubborn fire, which burned fiercely in bedding, stores, rubber hose, rope and salvage gear.

Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water were poured into the ship in an attempt to let firemen reach the seat of the blaze.

At 11:40 a.m. Fire Chief Frank Briers ordered everyone off the ship, and at 12:10 she slowly settled to the bottom, flooded by the water that failed to reach the stubborn flames.

At 12:20 she had settled. There was two feet of water on her main deck and she listed outward from her berth at Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros. Ltd. wharf.

At press time company officials were debating whether to cut the mooring lines that held her upright.

She was well submerged aft, and water reached to her name at the bow.

BULKHEAD FAILED?

It is believed a bulkhead dividing the crew's quarters from the after part of the ship collapsed, flooding the engine room.

All the city's major fire equipment was called to fight the blaze.

Smoke—black and stinking from burning stores—shrouded the waterfront before firemen could slow the flames.

From 9 a.m. on they fought a losing battle to reach the deep-seated flames.

"The fire itself was serious—mighty serious—for a time," said Fire Chief Frank Briers, red-eyed and hoarse from his attempts to lead firemen to the seat of the blaze.

"Our trouble was getting to it," he said.

DEEP-SEATED

The fire is understood to have broken out in the crew's quarters, two decks below the upper deck. Firemen wearing compressed-air breathing apparatus attempted to take hose to the fire, but dense smoke and terrific heat forced them off.

Finally a crewman using the ship's own welding equipment cut two huge holes through the foredeck that enabled firemen to play a stream of water into a companionway reaching to the fire itself.

NO INJURIES

Only men aboard the vessel when the alarm was turned in at 7:30 were Charles Cruikshanks, fireman; Wong Ying, cook; and Ko Wing, messboy. They escaped from the burning ship without injury.

The fire department called Island Tug and Barge Ltd. immediately, and by the time fire trucks were on the scene four tugs and a barge were approaching the Evans, Coleman wharf, where the Salvage King was berthed.

"They told us to send everything, so we did," he said.

The fireboat Island Trooper fed hose lines to the burning ship, and sprayed her upper deck with a monitor atop the pilot house.

DRAMATIC LESSON

Fireboat Need Proved, Says Mayor

The fire on the Salvage King today is a dramatic lesson to Victoria on the need for a fireboat, Mayor Claude Harrison declared.

The mayor inspected the sunken ship at noon today and said: "The whole harbor front was jeopardized by this fire. The ship should have been towed to sea and out of the range of the harbor front properties as soon as the fire was spotted."

The mayor pointed out that with oil tanks just across the harbor and the docks all around the blazing ship, Victoria could have been faced with a holocaust.

The mayor indicated he will bring the fireboat question before the City Council again.

Red Feather Collections Now $116,500

A total of $116,500 has been collected to noon today by the Greater Victoria Community Chest, almost 56 per cent of the $210,686 target.

Chest officials said there is still about 80 per cent of the industrial-commercial canvas to be heard from.

Red Feather campaign chairman, Courtney Haddock, paid tribute to school teachers and civil servants for their fine response. But he indicated that some business firms are acting as if they were contributing to one agency instead of 16.

Where the head of the business hasn't given his personal interest, the drive hasn't been too successful, he added.

"It's up to the community and those who are prospering here to decide what they want," he stated, and he pointed out that some firms have contributed less than many individuals.

'AGNOSTIC CLERICS' SCORED

'God Is Totalitarian' Jesuit Tells Anglicans

LONDON (AP)—A leading Jesuit priest said Sunday the Roman Catholic Church does not have to seek converts—"they are driven to us by Communist and agnostic clerics."

Rev. Joseph Christie replied to a booklet approved by ranking Anglican prelates which accused the Catholic church of "touting for converts among the seriously ill and dying." The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, recommended the booklet, which was written by an anonymous group of Anglican clergymen.

Father Christie, preaching in the Church of Our Lady of Victories, said:

"No one who has been engaged in receiving converts into the church can have failed to notice that the first impetus comes, not so much from the proselytizing efforts of Catholics as from the deficiencies of the Anglican Church itself."

"We do not need to seek converts: They are driven to us by Communist and agnostic clerics within the establishment itself."

As to the booklet's charges that the Catholic Church was "totalitarian," the Catholic preacher replied: "Let us face it—God is totalitarian." He said it was the "Protestant mind that attempted to limit God."

Firemen Lose Battle to Save Vessel

BCE STRIKE VOTE STARTED; TO BE COMPLETE WEDNESDAY

A strike vote among 100 electricians employed by the B.C. Electric here is under way.

It will be completed Wednesday.

Strike action, which the men's union, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.), says will affect everything but homes and essential services, is contemplated to back up their demands for a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

It is expected that hospitals will be served, but commercial enterprises will be cut off if a strike materializes.

A majority recommendation of a conciliation board to maintain wages at the present level was rejected by the union.

Tail End May Hit City

The West Coast of Vancouver Island and the whole northern B.C. coast, braced itself today as the tag end of a North Pacific hurricane screamed downcoast from the Gulf of Alaska.

Small ships scudded for shelter but no extensive damage was reported along the coast. The weatherman said the brunt of the blow might be expected to hit before nightfall.

The Dominion public weather office in Vancouver said the winds which pummelled their weather ship 900 miles off the coast with gusts up to 110 miles per hour were gradually slackening and probably would be only about 60 m.p.h. by the time the raging tempest smashed against the seaboard.

The weather ship was knocked around by vicious 45-foot waves but the forecaster said the waves would be "no where near that size" by the time they reached the coast.

He said even the brunt would be a "tame lion" compared to the raging tiger that foamed the Pacific early this morning.

AFTER SALVAGE KING DISASTER

NEED FIRE BOAT---MAYOR

Stricken Vessel Sinks After Five-Hour Fight Against Forecastle Fire

Crowds lined Evans Coleman dock at noon today as Salvage King slowly sank at berth after stubborn fire in fore-castle. Officials believe bulkhead collapsed under pressure of tons of water poured on fire from hoses.

Firemen fought tenaciously to reach fire in crew's quarters and salvage stores. Alarm was made at 7.30 a.m., by 8.30 smoke was pouring from stricken vessel at hatches, companion-ways. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

Ship Burns, Sinks In Harbor's Water

The fire on the Salvage King today is a dramatic lesson to Victoria on the need for a fireboat, Mayor Claude Harrison declared.

Fugitive Caught

James C. Hall, 30, who escaped last month from Wilkenson Road Mental Home, has been taken into custody in Miami and is being brought back to Victoria, immigration officers were advised today.

Hall, who had escaped a second time from the home, fled across the straits in a stolen rowboat and for a time was hunted on the Olympic peninsula but eluded police officers.

PM Wants Private Talk With Malenkov

PARIS, Oct. 19 (UP)—An authoritative diplomatic source reported tonight that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill has notified the United States he may go to Moscow alone soon for a face-to-face meeting with Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov.

Churchill told Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in London, the informant said, that he is so convinced of the need to make direct contact with the Kremlin in the interests of reducing world tension, that he is prepared to go to Russia alone, if possible.

Churchill made his statement to Dulles during the three-day conference of the American, British and French foreign ministers that ended in London yesterday.

Dulles is reported to have told Churchill that if he went to Moscow alone he could talk only for Britain and not for the United States.

Churchill has shown his determination to press for some kind of conference with Russia, preferably one which the heads of states of the four great powers would attend.

The United Press informant said Churchill made his statement to Dulles yesterday at a lunch he gave for the three foreign ministers.

Percy Wright Loses His City Hall Job

Percy Wright, Victoria Social Credit MLA, tried to get his job as assistant city clerk back today, but failed.

Mr. Wright, who left his job five weeks ago to carry out his duties in the Legislature—after city council had refused his request for leave of absence—reported to city hall sharp at 8.30 a.m., the normal starting time.

He then had a 15-minute private chat with City Clerk M. Frank Hunter.

When he came out, he said he had been told by Mr. Hunter he would have to see City Manager Cecil Wyatt since the matter was solely in his hands.

His meeting with Mr. Wyatt took less than two minutes.

"I saw Mr. Wyatt and told him the session had ended and that I was back. I asked him if my job was still open. He said no, and said he felt his letter covered the subject so that no further explanation was necessary," Mr. Wright revealed.

Firemen Overcome

Two firemen were overcome, by smoke today after four hours of battling the Salvage King fire in dense, evil-smelling smoke from burning stores and equipment in the crew's quarters.

They were John McLennan, discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital after brief treatment, and Bill Milliken, taken home by fellow firemen.

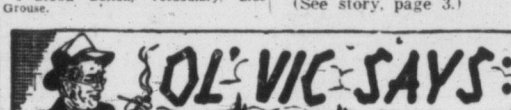

Woman Escapes

An upstairs room in an old-style house at 744 Discovery Street, occupied by Mrs. Marie Montgomery, was gutted by fire this afternoon. The occupant was unhurt.

The fire apparently started in the wall immediately behind a range.

Arab League to Meet

CAIRO (Reuters)—The Arab League today summoned its political committee to an extraordinary session at Amman, Jordan, Wednesday to consider collective action to "put an end once and for all to repeated and flagrant aggressions by Israel." (See page 3.)

'Pity th' big tug burned, but lucky she wuz so close t' home. They couldn't hev sent th' Salvage King after her.

Dividin' a bag o' candy 'tween hungry kids wuz th' standard problem, till they started tryin' t' pacify Yugoslavia an' Italy at Trieste.
